THORNTON DENIES RESIGNATION REPORTS

Radio Bill Soon Before Commons

Action Expected At This Session On Broadcasting

Premier Bennett Gives Notice of Resolution in Broadcasting in Commons, Purposing to Introduce Bill to Create Commission

COMMITTEE REPORT
APPROVED BY M.P.'S
Recommendation of Committee Is That Broadcasting in Canada Be Nationalized

Ottawa, May 11.—Premier Bennett plans to introduce legislation to implement the report of the Commons committee on radio broadcasting. He has given notice that he will move, in the House, the following resolution:

"Resolved, that it is expedient to bring in a measure to provide for the constitution of a commission to be known as the Canadian Radio Broadcasting Commission, for the purpose of acquiring, operating, regulating and controlling radio broadcasting in Canada."

REPORT ADOPTED
Ottawa, May 11.—Without a dissenting voice, the Commons this afternoon adopted the report of its special committee which investigated radio broadcasting.

Ottawa, May 11.—With the assertion radio is a weapon which can be used in such a way as to do a great deal of harm, or can be so utilized as to build up culture and advance education, Hon. Raymond Morand, Conservative, East Essex, Ont., chairman of the Commons committee on radio broadcasting, moved, this afternoon, the report of that committee this afternoon. The report recommends eventual nationalization of radio broadcasting.

At the outset Dr. Morand paid a tribute to the helpfulness of his colleagues on the committee. He also stated evidence presented to the committee had been well prepared. It had come from all over Canada.

Radio was in its infancy, Dr. Morand said. But a short time ago it was merely a toy and people used it to see how far they could reach into space by its assistance. From that point it had grown to be a factor in education, and a utility of great power.

To-day radio was found in the schools and churches. It was a valuable aid to agriculture. It assisted the police. It had become a factor in many lines of human endeavor, and a valued factor.

The committee had been asked to study the Air report, continued Dr. Morand. That report had been made in 1929. In studying it, members of the committee had been fortunate in hearing statements by the three gentlemen who had drafted the Air report, and their evidence had been of great assistance. Again, the committee had been asked to suggest a technical scheme for radio broadcasting. In order to do that it had been necessary to secure help from technical advisers. The scheme evolved would, he believed, give Canada the type of broadcasting to which the Dominion was entitled.

QUEBEC FIRES CONTROLLED

Forest Outbreaks in Rouyn District Checked By Crews

Quebec, May 11.—All the bush and brush fires which burned during the last few days in the mining area of Rouyn were under control to-day, according to word received by Henri Keiffer, director of the provincial forest protection service here. The fires centered around Boischatel, Premier, Armand and Massenaud, in the region of Rouyn and Noranda.

The fires, which are thought to have been started by settlers, clearing off their newly acquired lands have not destroyed any valuable standing timber. Reports from other forest districts where similar fires broke out, were lacking to-day.

London, May 11.—The Prince of Wales left for Paris to-day to attend the funeral of the late President Paul Desmoulin. The weather was unfavorable for flying.

DEPORTATION FIGHT FAILS

F. Zurcher Taken From Vancouver to Halifax; Discharge Application Rejected

To Be Taken Before Immigration Board at Nova Scotia Port For Hearing

Vancouver, May 11.—Application for discharge from custody of Frederick Zurcher, secretary of the Canadian Labor Defence League and a Communist, was refused by Chief Justice Morrison in a judgment handed down to-day following a hearing of argument in Supreme Court Chambers yesterday.

Zurcher left later under Royal Canadian Mounted Police escort for the immigration station at Halifax.

A writ of habeas corpus was obtained following the arrest of Zurcher on a warrant charging him with advocating the overthrow of constituted law and authority by force and violence and with attempting to create riot or public disorder in Canada.

SAID NOT CARRIED OUT
His counsel, Gordon Grant, contended the warrant for Zurcher's arrest, issued on December 5 last by W. J. Egan, Deputy Minister of Immigration, was not according to the Act, in that it failed to direct detention at an immigration station.

Hon. R. L. Mathland, K.C., appearing for the Minister, declared that before the R.C.M.P. officers, who had Zurcher in charge, could get to the train which was to take him to an immigration station, they were intercepted by the writ of habeas corpus and it was on that order he was detained in the police barracks here.

Zurcher is thirty years old, a Swiss by birth, and a welder by trade, according to the police.

RECOVER BODIES AFTER BIG STORM

Hanoi, French Indo-China, May 11.—The resident-general was informed to-day 134 bodies had been washed ashore in the state of Annam since a typhoon struck the territory last Wednesday.

Five hundred lives were lost altogether, 500 houses were destroyed and small fishing boats went to the bottom.

DOLLAR EASES ON EXCHANGE

New York, May 11.—Canadian and British currencies eased fractionally on the local foreign exchange market to-day.

The dollar closed 3/4 cent lower at 89 1/2 cents, and the pound sterling ended the session 1/4 cent lower at $3.67 1/2 for cable transfers.

Any Bird Or Animal, and Possibly Snakes, May Be Entered; Peanuts For Everyone

Victoria children will have an opportunity to stage a miniature circus parade of their own on May 24, if plans under consideration by the celebration committee materialize.

Every child in the city or surrounding districts owning a bird or a pet rabbit, dog, cat, or any other animal, may take part in the annual celebration. Girls with dolls may also participate.

May 24 has always been a great holiday for the youngsters and the organizers of the circus parade plan to give them a chance to hold the stage for several hours, although the annual street parade has been abolished.

MANY CLASSES
Prizes for all classes of pets will be provided under the scheme. This means that every young dog owner must groom his entry thoroughly and get favorable for flying.

CANDIDATE FOR U.S. PRESIDENCY

While the Republican and Democratic parties in the United States are holding primaries and otherwise squaring away for their national nominating conventions, the Socialist-Labor Party already has its candidate in the field, Verne L. Reynolds, above, was nominated for the Presidency at the party's recent national convention in New York. Mr. Reynolds is a New York man and a steam-fitter by trade, but at present is in the advertising business.

CROWN TO PAY SEIZURE COSTS

Mr. Justice Martin Gives Owners of St. Patrick Judgment For Costs

Failure of Givenchy's Captain to Mark Seizure Point Held Vital

Mr. Justice Martin in Eschequer Court this morning held the Crown liable for all costs in connection with the seizure of the fishing vessel St. Patrick last fall.

His Lordship attributed the decision to omission by Capt. Radford, of the fisheries protection cruiser Givenchy, to place a buoy at the point of seizure of the Tacoma fishing vessel. "All this expense would have been avoided had he waited there a few hours for slack water and placed a buoy," he commented.

H. W. R. Moore, Crown counsel, pleaded that Capt. Radford had not seized the vessel on any definite charge other than one of unlawfully fishing within Canadian waters. Under such authority he correctly brought the vessel into Victoria, and therefore no costs should rest against the Crown, he argued.

"As to subsequent proceedings, assuming them to have been faulty, the owner was very fortunate to get his ship back. The vessel was admittedly within Canadian waters and fishing. There were two ways of prosecuting, and the law officers of the Crown appear to have chosen a method which was defective," he said.

For Capt. Sumich of the St. Patrick, R. M. MacDonald of Vancouver argued that judgment had been given that the boat was not within the three-mile limit. "If the boat was not there no offence was committed, and costs should be a matter of course," he submitted.

A request for damages was advanced by W. H. Bullock-Webster, associate counsel for the St. Patrick. This was withdrawn to secure early possession of the vessel when His Lordship intimated that time would be required to consider the merits of the application.

CABINET CONFIRMS KENNEDY REPORT

Confirming the announcement made in The Times on February 19, the Tolmie cabinet yesterday made W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board and accepted the resignations of H. B. Thomson, the present chairman, and W. J. Baird.

The change will become effective July 31. Reversion to a one-man board comes after considerable criticism of the $30,000 board which was created soon after the Tolmie government assumed office.

Thomson received a salary of $15,000 and the other two commissioners $7,500 each. No announcement has been made as to the remuneration Mr. Kennedy will receive.

Thomas Funeral In France To-day

Associated Press
Champigny-sur-Marne, France, May 11.—Pierre Laval, former Premier, was the principal orator to-day at the funeral service in the Town Hall here for the late Albert Thomas.

Thousands attended the service, including representatives of most of the European governments and of the League of Nations.

Mr. Thomas, director of the International Labor Bureau, died last Sunday.

All Japan Troops To Leave Shanghai Within One Month

Tokio Government's Decision Comes as Surprise to Force at Chinese City; World Opinion Chief Factor

Canadian Press
Tokio, May 11.—The government has decided to withdraw all Japanese troops from Shanghai within a month.

The decision was made by the cabinet at a meeting yesterday, the Foreign Office spokesman said in making the announcement to-day.

"The decision is due to the Japanese Government's desire to conform to world opinion," he said, "and to prove Japan had no territorial or other ulterior motives in sending the troops to Shanghai."

The withdrawal will mean a return to conditions as they existed before the outbreak at Shanghai last January, which cost thousands of lives, both Chinese and Japanese, and the destruction of millions of dollars' worth of property.

Since the withdrawal of the 14th division from Shanghai to be sent to Manchuria, announced by the War Department yesterday, only about 15,000 Japanese troops remain there. These are mostly in Major-General Kenkichi Uryeda's Ninth Division.

Meanwhile, the spokesman said, the Government of Japan expected the Chinese to observe the armistice agreement signed last week, and it also expected Great Britain, the United States, France and Italy, whose representatives (Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

Saanich Family Ties Record of Esquimalt

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coles, University Avenue, Have Thirteen Children and They Celebrated Their Golden Wedding Anniversary Last Year; Family Had Fine Record in Great War; Courthouse Staff Promises Information on Family of Eighteen.

Saanich carried all honors to-day in the search for the largest family on Vancouver Island. After scouring the highways and byways for days the reader who claimed the neighboring municipality would sweep the board went a long way to justify his contention.

"I'm on the track of a larger one," he telephoned yesterday afternoon. This afternoon he proudly produced the particulars and a photograph. It was the family of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Coles, University Street. It equals the fifteen record of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Buxton but does not beat it. Had all the family lived there would have been nineteen.

There are now father, mother, seven boys and six girls. Mr. Coles who is now seventy-two and Mrs. Coles who is seventy-one, were married at Plumstead Parish Church in London fifty-one years ago. They celebrated their golden anniversary of their wedding last year. They came to Saanich twenty years ago bringing eleven children with them, two staying in England. They have not been off the Island since they arrived. They have eighteen grandchildren and one great grandchild.

The parents are justly proud of the war record of the family. Frederick was a munitions worker; William enlisted under the Lord Derby scheme; Arthur served the 85th Fusiliers; Samuel served sixteen years in the Royal West Kent Regiment and the Royal Engineers and new service in Malta, India, Singapore, and from November, 1914, to the Armistice was in Belgium, France and Germany and came through without a scratch; Stanley served with the 88th Fusiliers, and Alex with the 13th Battalion; Osborne was in the 13th African War and the Great War. The husbands of the married daughters also served in the Great War.

To bring further honors to Saanich a lady reader telephoned to The Times: "We want Saanich to win," she remarked, "and I am sure we can. Here are the names of several families running from ten to fourteen." Further inquiries are being made.

But hardly had the news of Saanich's challenge for honors been made than more claims came from Victoria. A printer of The Times reported he would secure information by to-morrow of a family in the Spring Ridge district which he believed would prove greater than any yet reported.

Then the court house reporter widened the field by announcing the legend of a family of eight which he believed would prove greater than any yet reported.

The promised information of a red-haired family of a longshoreman which it was expected would be in the running had not been received up to late this afternoon.

PROMISE OF GREAT CROP

Ottawa, May 11.—Throughout Canada, the spring seeding season is generally late, but more promising than for several years, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported to-day.

In a review of crop prospects across the Dominion, the bureau said: "In the prairie provinces, the season is two to three weeks later than the average, but heavy and well distributed precipitation has resulted in the best germinating conditions since 1928."

Conditions described as promising in British Columbia.

ROBERT DOLLAR'S CONDITION SAME

San Rafael, Cal., May 11.—Captain Robert Dollar, who was shot in the chest yesterday and lost the ground he had gained and his condition is just the same to-day, his physician, Dr. R. C. Duffin, reported.

The eighty-eight-year-old shipping magnate is suffering from bronchial pneumonia.

OUTBREAK IN JUGOSLAV ARMY

Number of Officers Arrested at Several Garrison Posts; Want Republic

Canadian Press
Vienna, May 11.—Sensational reports which culminated in Vienna yesterday evening to the effect, King Alexander of Yugoslavia had fled the country in the midst of a military revolt, apparently were based on the arrest of sixteen officers of the army for insubordination, it developed to-day.

The affair was serious enough, however, to cause War Minister Stojanovic to go to Marburg, the scene of the insubordination, and the officers, including a colonel, were brought to Belgrade for a court martial.

Special dispatches to Vienna newspapers amplified these details considerably. The correspondent of The Reichspost said military officers were arrested at several garrison posts, and that one Marburg officer had committed suicide and another attempted it.

WANT REPUBLIC
The dispatches said the strictest censorship had prevented the details from reaching Belgrade, but the conspiracy was aimed at the overthrow of the monarchy, the establishment of a republic and the reorganization of the state on a federal basis.

Officials at Belgrade insisted, however, that the affair was due merely to "personal" differences between the officers and a superior.

Hon. G. D. Robertson Now Recovering

Canadian Press
Geneva, May 11.—Senator Gideon D. Robertson, former Canadian Minister of Labor, continues to improve following his collapse last week and to-day was sitting out in the open. His physician believes Senator Robertson, who came to Geneva as head of the Canadian delegation to the World Labor Conference and was elected as president of the conference, will be able to leave the clinic next week. He will return to Canada with Mrs. Robertson later this month, it is expected.

Air Mail Will Start Saturday

Air mail service between Victoria and Vancouver will be resumed on Saturday next, it was announced this morning by G. H. Gendry, postmaster. The Sikorsky amphibian, which will give a passenger service between the two cities, will handle the mail.

Mail at Victoria will close at 10:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. Mails will reach Victoria from Vancouver at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. The postage rate will be six cents for the first ounce and five cents for each additional ounce. In the case of the 4:30 p.m. dispatch it is suggested that a special delivery stamp of twenty cents also be paid in order to assure delivery in Vancouver the same evening.

More Provincial Officers Sent to Nelson District Where 134 Nude Paraders Face Trial

Canadian Press
Nelson, B.C., May 11.—The Doukhobor jail population was increased yesterday by five children who had been left without guardians when their parents were arrested last Sunday at the trial for appearing in the nude. This morning another child was picked off the streets. This brought the jail population of children under fourteen years of age to seventy-six.

All was quiet in the district to-day while police officials were awaiting arrival of a flat from Victoria before further trials can be heard. More provincial police officers have arrived from Vancouver in order to deal with any possible trouble.

It was stated in Victoria that an official check-up yesterday showed 252 adult members of the Sons of Freedom were under detention, 67 of who were men and eighty-five women. There were, then, in addition, seventy-five children not under arrest, but detained for safe-keeping until proper provision could be made for their care.

Of the adults, 178 are under sentence of three years in the penitentiary, and 194 are facing prosecution under the same section of the Criminal Code, win.

LEAGUE SUPPORT IN CANADA URGED

Ottawa, May 11.—The necessity of fostering an informed and understanding Canadian public opinion in the work of the League of Nations, especially now with critical days ahead, was stressed by Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the League of Nations Society in Canada, when he welcomed delegates to the tenth annual meeting here to-day.

The early session of the meeting, which will conclude to-night, was devoted to the presentation of reports covering the last year's work and preparation of resolutions for presentation this afternoon.

To-day, the society has 5,553 members, a decrease of 768 during the year, with receipts of $40,000, making a surplus of $654 on the year's work.

IRISH FACE NEW TARIFF

British Commons Hears Intimation Oath Abolition Means Levies By Britain

Canadian Press
London, May 11.—The Anglo-Irish controversy originating in the decision of President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State to abolish the parliamentary oath of allegiance to the King, entered a fresh phase this afternoon in the British Commons.

Mr. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary, intimated that if the abolition bill should become law it was not reasonable to expect the British Government would enter negotiations for further agreements "with a government which had repudiated an existing agreement."

TO APPLY TARIFF
The implication was that the Import Duties Act, imposing new general duties which are not applicable to the dominions and colonies until November 15, would not be amended to continue the preference benefit to the Free State after that date.

The minister was asked by C. E. Morris, Conservative, whether the government intended entering into negotiations with the Free State in regard to the application to the Irish Free State of the Import Duties Act after November 15. That date was fixed as the limit for the continued preference to dominions and colonies in the expectation that by that time a revision would be made in the light of the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa.

SAYS TREATY BROKEN
Mr. Thomas said the position was the Free State bill for abolition of the oath of allegiance was directly in conflict with obligations undertaken by the Free State under the Anglo-Irish treaty of 1921.

"It appears to the government that if the bill is becoming law it would be (Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

COLD STORAGE AT KODIAK INTERIM SUPPLY VOTED BY M.P.'S

Washington, May 11.—The House rivers and harbors committee to-day referred back to the local engineer the report on deepening the Kodiak, Alaska, harbor channel, on an appeal by Delegate Wickersham and Representative Carter of California.

Wickersham said he did not think the Kodiak people should be asked to contribute $13,000 because it was a public harbor used by all traffic and they did not have the money.

Carter said he understood Kodiak citizens seriously considered building a cold storage plant in order to make the town the centre of the halibut industry in that vicinity, now centered around Prince Rupert, B.C.

"Whenever there is a doubt, we should resolve it in favor of these people," he said, "it can be done without going into an extravagant or unnecessary programme."

Only Coming of Ill-health Would Cause Sir Henry to Write Resignation

Canadian Press
Ottawa, May 11.—Denial of reports he was about to resign as president of the Canadian National Railways was issued here to-day by Sir Henry Thornton.

In a statement issued this afternoon, Sir Henry said: "With respect to the report that I am about to resign as chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, I, in common with other officers of the system, will continue to administer my official responsibilities just so long as such services remain acceptable to my employers or as long as health permits."

Sir Henry's present contract with the government will expire next year. He has been head of the C.N.R. system for ten years, having come from the Great Eastern Railway, England, on the invitation of the King Government.

ART GALLERY DISPUTE GROWS

Commissioner of Works Resigns as Trustee of National in London

By Thomas T. Champlin, Canadian Press Staff Writer
London, May 11.—There is trouble among the trustees of the National Gallery, and Rt. Hon. William Gore has resigned. Mr. Ormsby-Gore holds office in the government as First Commissioner of Works, and as such is at the head of the department controlling royal palaces and parks and government and other buildings.

His resignation as a trustee of the National Gallery will have to go before the Prime Minister, who will decide whether it shall be accepted.

It is asserted the friction has arisen through what is deemed to be undue interference by some of the trustees with the work of high officers of the permanent staff of the gallery. The trustees of the National Gallery, in addition to Mr. Ormsby-Gore, include the Prince of Wales, the Prime Minister and Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin.

unreasonable to expect they should enter negotiations for further agreements with a government which had repudiated an existing agreement," Mr. Thomas said.

The statement was made in the regular session of the House.

Rt. Hon. George Lansbury, parliamentary labor leader, and James Macdonald of the Labor left wing, objected that it was not to the public advantage that the House should debate the question before the Irish Free State had actually adopted the oath bill (recently given second reading).

Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Acting Prime Minister, agreed. No one, he said, desired to discuss the bill while it was still being debated in Ireland.

DOMINIONS NOT AFFECTED

London, May 11.—The government statement that passage of the bill for abolition of the oath of allegiance in the Irish Free State would result in Britain declining to negotiate with the Free State at the Imperial Economic Conference has no immediate effect on relations between Free State and sister Dominion governments.

It was learned to-night the statement was decided on at a cabinet meeting to-day and the Dominions were not consulted because the treaty which the British Government asserts is being broken by the Free State is merely between Ireland and Great Britain.

The immediate question was what effect the statement would have on the Irish Free State Senate. The abolition bill has been given third reading in the Dail and is now before the Irish Free State Senate.

Canadian Press
Halifax, N.S., May 11.—A representative of the Canadian Labor Defence League was on his way to Halifax to-day to arrange a defence for nine alleged communists held in Halifax for deportation hearings. It was learned here. As far as is known, only two of the prisoners have been represented by counsel at the tribunals sitting presided over by R. N. Munroe of Ottawa.

Now it appears each of the men will be given representation.

A Halifax business man financed the defence of Stefan Worebek of Montreal, Nick Maychuk, who was arrested at the same time as Worebek, is represented by M. D. Franklin, Montreal attorney who was to appeal to Hon. W. A. Gordon, Minister of Immigration, at Ottawa to-day against a deportation order issued last week.

Habeas corpus proceedings are expected to be taken at Halifax on behalf of Orton Wade, Daniel Holmes and Konrad Gessinger, who were arrested in Winnipeg following May Day demonstrations and brought to Halifax by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

Washington, May 11.—Governor George White of Ohio stepped into the United States Democratic presidential lists to-day with the all but solid backing of his state, while Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York gathered in West Virginia's delegation vote.

On the Republican side, President Hoover was assured the solid convention strength of both states, completing the expected results in yesterday's primaries without upset. The President also picked up Tennessee and Wyoming's delegates in state conventions.

ANTI-PROHIBITION VOTES

The Ohio delegate contests were overshadowed by apparently decisive victories right down the line for anti-prohibition candidates. Leading these was young David S. Ingalls, grasping the Republican gubernatorial nomination on a repeal plank, and Attorney-General Gilbert Betman, successful apparently in defeating Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, for the party's senatorial selection. Betman was reported to have won the party's nomination for governor.

West Virginia's preference vote went to Roosevelt in a ten-to-one victory over Governor Murray of Oklahoma and all sixteen delegates apparently belong to the New Yorker also.

Called to the McIlquham home on Victoria Street, police found William McIlquham dead, victim of a bullet from an automatic revolver.

The police reported that from what they could learn the brothers had quarrelled because William had turned on the radio when he arrived home early to-day. There was a fierce fight during which furniture and dishes in the dining-room of the home were smashed.

An inquest will be held this evening.

Canadian Press
St. John's, Nfld., May 11.—The date of the general election in Newfoundland will be decided Saturday, June 11.

A proclamation for a general election in Newfoundland was issued to-day. Sir Richard Squires will lead the government forces, but he will be without the support of several of his former lieutenants.

Sir William Coaker, veteran founder of the Fishermen's Protective Union, has resigned his portfolio and will retire from active politics. Hon. W. W. Halfyard, Minister of Posts and Telegraphs, and Hon. Arthur Barnes, Secretary of State, also will leave the field.

Only three, therefore, of the nine ministers who with the Prime Minister made up the government at its inception in 1928 will enter the coming campaign. They are Hon. Alexander Campbell, Hon. F. G. Bradley and Sir Tasker Cook, all minister without portfolio.

Sir Alderdice, who will lead the opposition forces, is said to be gathering a strong line-up for nomination.

The government was returned to office on October 29, 1928, with a majority of 30 to 10. The last session of the Legislature the standing was approximately 25 to 15, several government supporters having crossed the floor.

By THOMAS T. CHAMPTON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, May 11.—Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, who was then Minister of War, had actually arranged to go with Lord Kitchener to Russia aboard the ill-fated cruiser Hampshire in 1914.

This is revealed to-day in the second volume of Baron Beaverbrook's "Politicians and the War." Mr. Lloyd George was presented from going, and from sharing the fate of Earl Kitchener only by the projected Irish settlement and Premier Asquith's appeal to him to handle the negotiations.

The volume by the Canadian-born peer and newspaper executive, who was the Canadian Government's representative at the front in France in 1916, is vividly interesting to those who were acquainted with the political crisis of sixteen years ago.

Kingston, Ont., May 11.—During a quarrel over a radio set here early this morning, William McIlquham, forty, was shot and almost instantly killed, and his brother, Frederick, thirty-seven, was arrested and charged with the shooting.

Called to the McIlquham home on Victoria Street, police found William McIlquham dead, victim of a bullet from an automatic revolver.

The police reported that from what they could learn the brothers had quarrelled because William had turned on the radio when he arrived home early to-day. There was a fierce fight during which furniture and dishes in the dining-room of the home were smashed.

An inquest will be held this evening.

CIVIL SERVICE CHANGES URGED

Commons Now Has Before It Recommendations of Its Committee

Ottawa, May 11.—Recommendations of the Commons committee which investigated administration of the Civil Service Act, tabled in the House yesterday, are:

"That the present chairman of the Civil Service Commission (Hon. W. J. Roche), who has now passed the age of seventy years, be retired; that because of his long and meritorious years of service in the public service of Canada and as chairman of the Civil Service Commission of Canada, he be granted a gratuity.

"That Commissioner J. Emile Tremblay be retired; that, because of his twenty-two years of service in the public service of Canada, he be granted a gratuity.

"That Commissioner Newton MacTavish be retired and, in lieu of notice, be granted a gratuity.

The committee makes a reference to the secretary of the commission (William J. Foran). It finds there is a great deal of overlapping in the performance of duties by the heads of different branches of the Civil Service Commission, "owing to matters receiving the attention of the secretary of the commission which are in no way related to secretarial duties." Recommendation is made that the secretary, William J. Foran, be called on to perform only those duties which are "peculiarly those of a secretary," and that the Civil Service Commission consider ways and means of eliminating duplication of correspondence and departmental memoranda which now pass through the hands of the secretary to the commissioners.

The committee adds that it was impressed with the integrity of the assistant secretary (C. H. Bland).

RULE FOR POSTMASTERS

Postmasters hereafter appointed to revenue post offices having a revenue in excess of $3,000 per annum, the report recommends, should be within the full operation of the Civil Service Act, and that such amendments as are necessary be made to the Civil Service Act for that purpose.

Exemption from the Civil Service Act of postmasters of offices where the revenue does not exceed $3,000 per annum is recommended by the committee.

SHOULD SHOW CAUSE

Rejection of an appointee of the Civil Service Commission by a deputy minister should only be for "cause," the committee considers. "The Department of Justice," the report states in this connection, "having ruled that section 24 of the Civil Service Act permits the deputy head of a department to reject an appointee of the Civil Service Commission without reasons stated therefor, and without trial, your committee recommends that the deputy head of a department have power to reject only for cause, and that such cause be specifically stated."

RESIDENCE REQUIREMENT

An amendment of the Civil Service Act as to the length of residence in Canada required for eligibility for appointment in the civil service is advocated. The report urges the residence in this country before appointment should be five years in place of three years.

The report says the committee declined to deal with representations made on behalf of the Professional Institute of the Civil Service of Canada for better salaries. This matter, it considered, is sub-judice, as many of the representations have been considered by the Beatty commission, headed by

Here they are pictured together. She has been in Muldoon's employ twelve years and helps to manage his business affairs.

E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

WOMEN WORKERS

In the opinion of this committee, no amendment is necessary to the Civil Service Act in regard to female civil servants. "Representations having been made on behalf of female civil servants," the report states, "your committee is of the belief that there being no discrimination as to sex in the provisions of the Civil Service Act, no amendment thereto in this connection is necessary."

On the returned soldiers' preference clause of the act, the report recommends preference be given to a returned soldier with dependents as against a returned soldier without dependents.

TO REDUCE OVERLAPPING

Steps to reduce overmanning and overlapping in the public services are recommended.

To promote economy and efficiency in engineering and mapping services, or in other services which can be centralized, your committee recommends to the Civil Service Commission that a careful study be made of such government services with a view to amalgamation thereof."

Hon. William J. Roche, for whom retirement and a gratuity are recommended, was seventy-two years of age on November 30 last. He became Secretary of State in the Borden Cabinet late in 1911, being one of the Manitoba members of the Commission in 1912 he was transferred to the post of Minister of the Interior. In October, 1917, on the formation of the Union Government, he was appointed chairman of the Civil Service Commission. Since that time he has been in the ministry. There he practiced for many years as a physician.

RAIL MERGER ESTIMATE MADE

C.P.R. and C.N.R. as One Might Save $50,000,000 a Year, Says Thornton

Ottawa, May 11.—A saving of approximately $50,000,000 a year would be effected if the two great transportation systems of Canada were operated as one, according to Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, today. The matter arose at yesterday's sitting of the Commons committee on railways and shipping.

"For a good many years in this committee it has been suggested the two railways should get together," said Hon. W. D. Euler, Liberal, North Waterloo, Ont. "How much has been saved by the C.N.R. by what has already been done, and how much could be saved if there was one central management? An estimate has been made. Would it be $50,000,000 a year, or $60,000,000, if the two roads were run as one?"

ESTIMATE OF YEARS AGO
Answering that from an "academic and economic point of view," Sir Henry declared several years ago—long before he came to Canada—Lord Shaughnessy had estimated that if what is today the C.N.R. and the C.P.R. were operated as one entity, a saving of $50,000,000 a year would be effected.

"I don't suppose that would fructify in the first, or the second, or third year, but it would begin in the first year," Sir Henry said, "and increase year by year. I find it a difficult question to answer, but I should say that probably the estimate was not far wrong."

"The suggestion has been made that the two roads could be operated by one commission, although remaining separate entities," said Mr. Euler. "My own opinion is that would not be practicable. Could any substantial saving be made by adopting a method of that kind?"

Sir Henry asked to be excused from answering. The Royal Commission was investigating that point and he had been asked to give certain evidence with regard to it.

ST. LAWRENCE DISCUSSION

Ottawa, May 11.—While negotiations between Canada and the United States on the St. Lawrence deep waterway proposal are stated to be well advanced, reports the two countries have signed a treaty for carrying out the project are officially denied. Work on the drafting of a treaty is understood to have been under way for several weeks.

WANT PREMIER AS HOTEL GUEST

C.N.R. Officials Accept Responsibility For Outlay on Suite in Chateau Laurier

Ottawa, May 11.—The administration of the Canadian National Railways assumed all responsibility for the alterations to the suite occupied by Premier Bennett in the Chateau Laurier here, the Commons committee on railways and shipping was told yesterday by Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, who brought up the matter in response to a request some time ago from Arthur L. Beaubien, Liberal, Provencher, Manitoba.

Dr. Manion had discussed it with Sir Henry Thornton, president of the C.N.R., he said, in view of the fact that money for such alterations was included in capital expenditures. He did not think any preliminary appropriations should go out in connection with such matters.

SAY PRESTIGE INCREASED

On January 2, 1931, Sir Henry had written him, Dr. Manion said, setting forth the railways' responsibility. He had thought some considerable time that the suite, occupied by Mr. Bennett since he was leader of the opposition, should be improved. After the 1930 election some discussion had arisen about the Prime Minister securing a residence in the capital, but the chateau did not wish to lose so important a guest. That was a viewpoint which no one could criticize, Dr. Manion said.

The presence of the Prime Minister enhanced the prestige of the hotel.

Should he decide to go elsewhere there would be no difficulty, Sir Henry had said, in renting the suite to one of the foreign diplomatic officials in Ottawa. The accommodation would not in any sense be wasted.

Dr. Manion declared that if this matter was to be discussed by the committee the Prime Minister desired to be present. The committee, however, did not wish to pursue the question further.

Inspector George H. Comstock accepted Mayor Harkin's appointment as acting chief until Mayor-elect Burke takes office June 6, when Capt. L. L. Norton will become head of the department.

Mr. Kent retired on half his old pay of $250 a month as captain. The chief explained his sudden resignation as "physician's orders."

Youth Who Killed Woman Ends Life

Wooster, Ohio, May 11.—The suicide of a nineteen-year-old youth shortly after he had been named for the confession of murder provided a startling climax early today to an investigation of the slaying of the relative's wife.

The accused youth, Harold Young, shot himself just as officers arrived at his home, near here, to arrest him. His death came less than an hour after Herbert Meeker, a Wayne County farmer, had named Young as the actual slayer of Meeker's wife.

The nude body of Meeker's young wife, Gertrude, was found floating in a creek near Millersburg. She had been killed by blows on the head.

PORT ALBERNI ADOPTS CUT

Reduction of 12 Per Cent in All Civic Salaries Passed Upon By Council

Special to The Times

Port Alberni, B.C., May 11.—Reduction of salaries for civic employees was settled Monday evening when the city council adopted a plan of reduction by 12 per cent of all such salaries from May 1. A minority report from the committee advocating a much more drastic cut, particularly among the higher salaried employees, was defeated.

The council also decided to ask the school board to bring about a lowering of teachers' salaries, commencing with the new school year in September. Accounts presented by the police commission showed that the salary of the second constable, which had been ordered reduced to $80 a month, had been reduced again, not to $80—the original amount, but to $100 per month.

City Clerk Bradley, who has been in hospital and is now convalescing, formally protesting the make-up of the city budget, and disclaiming any responsibility for the outcome of the year's financial operation. He predicted a considerable deficit. Mr. Bradley, as city treasurer, took the same course when last year's budget was introduced.

Inquiries will be made with a view to placing a blanket insurance policy covering the several trucks in operation.

Economy is expected from this step. Another small economy will be effected by removing seven street lights in order to bring cost of this lighting down to the minimum under the contract arrangement with the National Utilities Corporation.

Final readings and adoption were given the various finance bills connected with the tax levy.

OPEN LIBRARY AT SHAWNIGAN LAKE

Special to The Times
Shawnigan Lake, May 11.—Shawnigan Lake Library Association opened its new headquarters here Tuesday afternoon before a large assemblage of residents and visitors. Mr. Heald, chairman of the Shawnigan Lake Library Board, presided, and accompanying him was A. E. Wheelton of the board.

Herbert Kilham, director of the provincial traveling library department, brought greetings from the government, and congratulated the members of the board and the residents of the district upon their achievement.

Miss Margaret Clay, librarian of the Victoria Public Library, brought good wishes from Victoria and gave a short talk upon "books."

The building, designed by Douglas James of Duncan, is a spacious and particularly artistic one-story structure, has accommodation for a large collection, and the shelving is most adequate. At present there is a collection of about a thousand volumes, the Shawnigan collection being supplemented by a loan collection from the provincial traveling library and one from the Victoria Public Library. These are changed every three and six months, respectively, and contain a good representation of fiction and non-fiction works.

C. W. Lonsdale, headmaster of the Shawnigan Lake School, expressed the thanks of the association to the visitors.

Tea was served by the ladies.

MINERS TO TAKE VOTE ON WAGES

Canadian Press
Gloucester, N.S., May 11.—Mine workers employed in the collieries of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation will once more be given an opportunity of voting on the wage reductions proposed by the company. This was announced following a meeting of the executive officers of the United Mine Workers, district twenty-six.

The date of the second referendum has not been announced.

On March 14 the miners of the district voted against accepting reductions in wages as recommended in the report of the Duncan commission, which investigated the coal mining industry in the province early this year. A special convention was held in New Glasgow following the last referendum, when the executive was instructed to approach the company and demand increases of ten and twenty per cent, despite the fact that decreases of ten and twelve and one-half per cent had been recommended by the commission.

PLAYING WITH FIRE

IT IS EVIDENT THE CAMPAIGN WHICH has been assiduously conducted by a limited section of the press of Canada against the Canadian National Railways, supported from time to time by certain spokesmen for the present government at Ottawa, is about to be wound up by the preparation of the stage for the resignation of Sir Henry Thornton—with implications which impose to strain on the imagination. Hon. Dr. Manion's speech in the House of Commons the other day indicated what apparently was in his mind and in the minds of his ministerial colleagues. He accused the former government of "heavily wrecking" the railway, and then righteously declared that the present administration was not using it for political purposes because "it is now a national and not a Liberal road."

If the minister imagines he will fool the Canadian people, who have an enormous amount of money invested in the Canadian National Railways, with twaddle of this kind, he will very soon awaken to the fact that he is merely deluding himself. In the propaganda to which we have referred there has been an obvious, if often very clumsy, attempt to bedevil the railway—and it has been as plain as a pikestaff to the taxpayers. They are following all the parliamentary discussions on the subject of the Canadian National and not all the Hacketts and the McGibbons and the Manions have so far been successful in throwing out a smoke screen sufficiently dense to obscure what is going on, what has been going on for some time past. In all this the Canadian people see the government preparing to get rid of the Canadian National Railways, the property of the people of this country. They remember also that it was Mr. Bennett who said: "Competition Ever, Amalgamation Never!"

We can say to the government at Ottawa that if it countenances the programme which it knows is the pet scheme of some of its closest friends and supporters, and establishes a transportation monopoly in this Dominion, it will create a situation the effect of which may produce far-reaching consequences of the most serious nature. The people are sitting up and taking notice. They now realize that reaction is in the saddle at Ottawa.

A BLOW TO A FINE ART

NOW THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO doubt about it. One's home in this British domain is no longer his castle. Attorney-General Pooley has decided to go after the home-brewers.

High prices, permits, regulations and vanishing incomes have combined steadily to ease the consumer out of the government liquor stores. Around the family hearth—sometimes, it is reported, in the family bathtub—he has improved the idle hours by concocting a brew to suit his own pocket as well as his own particular taste, if not always that of his friends. But in reviving what in the olden days was an honorable home industry, the home-brewer has dealt a blow to the provincial government treasury. The treasury, of course, is any government's weak spot when it comes to receiving blows. The Attorney-General measures this home-brew blow in terms of a loss of $750,000 a year, in addition to another $750,000 loss to the Ottawa treasury. He says he merely wants the home-brewers to be registered. But going by all precedent, they can not be convinced that registration is not merely a necessary preliminary to giving them a place of importance on the tax rolls.

In planning to smoke out home brewing, Mr. Pooley is really striking at one of our fine arts—one of the few remaining domestic accomplishments. What else is left for the city lot dweller in these days of lost handicrafts, when foods come packaged and ready for the table from the factory and delicatessen store; and even fuel comes in over a wire? We have always thought that his glowing pride, his joy in accomplishment, his loquacious release from suppressions as he brings forth and uncorks the bottled product of his own hands, were human reactions to be cherished. What can compensate for such a loss in ego satisfaction?

Really, Mr. Pooley, we fear you are striking a blow at one of the very pillars of the state, the fraternity of contented and home-staying husbands.

STRANGELY INCONSISTENT

THE MORNING PAPER THINKS CANADA has an opportunity of building up a radio broadcasting service—"with the taxpayers' money at the beck and call of a commission in charge." It obviously does not like the idea of nationalization, although this project would be self-supporting.

The Colonist is one of the very few newspapers in Canada which would keep radio broadcasting in Canada in private hands, despite the fact that sooner or later all Canadian air channels would be choked by programmes from the other side of the international border, with all the advertising features which spoil them.

It is somewhat difficult to understand The Colonist's attitude toward the unanimous recommendation of the House of Commons committee which the government it supports appointed. The whole object of this nationalization plan is the development of Canadian programmes and the establishment of a national organization which will belong to the people—to prevent the existing stations going on the bargain counter for wealthy power and equipment interests in the United States grabbing them. As the morning paper was so horror-stricken about the Sockeye Salmon Treaty—which, of course, would have benefited Canada if it had been allowed to operate—and objected to the deepening of the St. Lawrence under international auspices, we should have thought it would have given this wholly Canadian radio broadcasting project a very fond embrace.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY

SALES OF RADIOS IN CANADA IN 1931 totaled 286,100, a gain of 28.2 per cent over 1930. Owing to the sharp drop in price, however, the aggregate value of those sold declined 20.3 per cent from the 1930 level. The increase in numbers was distributed fairly generally throughout the provinces. The largest quantity, as might be expected, was sold in Ontario, where an increase of 21.3 per cent was reported over the preceding year. Quebec ranked second in total sales with a gain of 27.2 per cent. The other provinces reported increases of as high as sixty-five per cent in Manitoba to as low as fourteen per cent in Nova Scotia.

Province	Number	Value	1930	Value
Ontario	125,400	$7,964,700	104,200	$10,281,300
Quebec	78,200	$5,097,200	61,500	$5,620,400
B.C.	23,900	$1,411,500	17,700	$1,794,800
Manitoba	19,800	$1,300,800	11,700	$1,213,100
Alberta	15,900	$877,900	8,500	$837,400
Nova Scotia	9,200	$510,800	8,800	$830,000
Sask.	7,200	$431,800	6,000	$594,200
N.B.	6,500	$401,400	4,400	$494,000
P.E.I.	900	$61,100	800	$70,900
Total	286,100	$18,141,300	223,200	$22,776,100

The volume of business done by distributors of A.C. receiving sets increased tremendously in 1931 as compared with 1930. A pronounced trend toward the lower-priced sets was noticeable. In the 1930-$255 class. In 1931, however, 38.2 per cent of all the sets sold were in the $65-$100 group. Of the total A.C. sets sold in 1931, eighty-five per cent were priced at less than $176 as compared with 36.9 per cent under this classification in 1930.

WINNING BACK TRAFFIC

BESIDES STIMULATING A QUANTITY of passenger traffic that has proved profitable, the two Canadian railway systems in the low-fare excursion experiments now under way on some eastern divisions are making an appeal to mass psychology that promises more than temporary financial benefit. They are making the present generation more railway-conscious and building up a reserve of potential travelers.

Early in the spring, the railways, emulating the sales appeals in other lines of business, embarked upon a policy of testing out the possibilities of bargain prices in transportation as a step toward increasing revenues, finding use for idle equipment and fighting travel lethargy. For the 334 miles between Toronto and Montreal, a return fare of five dollars—less than one cent a mile—was put into effect on day-coach excursion trains. The result has been the public has swarmed through the station gates to such an extent as to make it necessary to add second, third and fourth sections to the trains in order that every passenger might find a seat. Handling the crowds in trains of as many as eighteen cars, drawn by the latest type of high-powered, fast locomotives, and eliminating the loss occasioned by frequent stops, the railways report the bargain special have, without exception, so far proved profitable.

However, it is the other aspect of the experiment that is of more permanent importance to the railways. One of the officials has set it out this way: "A part of the present generation has been born into an age of motor cars. During the war these people were not encouraged to travel by railways. They have been brought up in an odor of motor cars and week-end trips on buses. Now, we feel that by giving these people an opportunity to travel by means of special rate, which so far has been possible by their popularity, we may inculcate a greater respect in the minds of these people for the many services the railway can offer them."

No less important than the creation of a travel-minded public may be the experiment's effect in reawakening the initiative of the railways.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

INFLATION
The Le Canada, Montreal

In criticizing Mr. Rhodes' budget, the Alberta Farmers' leader, Mr. Robert Gardner, proposed a amendment whose principal theme was the necessity of insulating Canada from the ravages of monetary inflation. At the very mention of the word inflation, many courageous spirits quail. By an association of ideas, they connect the word with the misfortunes of post-war Germany. They forget that there exists a wide gulf between a moderate dose of inflation administered in good faith and carefully measured, and the deliberate bankruptcy of a fraudulent debtor trying to escape the payment of just reparations. The theories of the west on monetary reform deserve to be carefully studied. Applied with the spirit of reserve and cautiousness which are ordinarily shown in the east in matters of finance, they might prove of considerable benefit in the present crisis.

FAVORS FOR THE WEST
Le Soleil, Quebec

The member for Bellechasse, M. Oscar Boulanger, asked for a thousand dollars for a little village in his country where the ravages of the depression have been exceptionally severe. The Minister of Agriculture merely replied: "Make your request to the government of Quebec." Whereupon the member for Bellechasse asked why the west should be granted favors which were denied the Province of Quebec? Herein we see the danger of granting favors to some and not to others. When the west asked the federal government to grant money to farmers in distress, it did not reply: "Make your request to the provincial governments." It stretched out its hand instantly and presented the gift. Why does it now cast the whole agricultural burden of the east on the governments of the provinces? Do the populations of the east not suffer also from the depression? Do they not pay taxes? Do they not themselves provide the capital which is paid out to the west by the federal government?

A THOUGHT

Loose Ends

About beer—and Bolshevism—and the dangerous connection between the two—together with a lament for a doomed handicraft—and a tale of the May Woods.

By H. H. W.

THE GENTLE art of home-brewing, as the paper wisely calls it, is to be officially discouraged in British Columbia, frowned upon by authority and taxed out of existence to increase the government's own beer sales. There will be many a loud protest against this. There will be many a mean thing said about those vague forces always referred to in the Legislature as the brewers and the beer barons. There will be many an outraged householder, many an embittered home-brewer who will fight to the last breath and the last bubble in defence of his tub of odorous mash in the basement.

BUT I AM NOT surprised in the least. It is precisely what I had expected and it is the most logical thing in the world. Indeed, to be truly logical, the government should certainly declare home brewing and home wine making a serious offense, not merely a taxable transaction. It should shut down every home brewer and corner him in the basement. For the fact is that we have given the government a monopoly of liquor, are depending on the success of its monopoly for a large and increasing proportion of our public revenues, and we must do everything to increase the income of its business.

IF THE new edict against home-brewing will show the public the large economic implications of government control, apart altogether from any consideration of morals or temperance, then it will be worth while. What the public hasn't realized yet is that government control is essentially communism—a great industry, essentially communalism of the most complete sort. It places the liquor business in the government's hands and it forbids anyone else to trade in liquor. There is only one excuse for this singling out of a single industry for socialization, and that reason is temperance. But temperance has long since ceased to be a part of the system. The government, according to its own statement (and no one has objected to it) is trying to sell as much liquor as possible, and is adjusting its price increases so that they won't discourage sales.

TEMPERANCE HAVING disappeared from the system (though the public appears to be getting more temperate all the time, for economic and other reasons), there is no particular reason why one industry should be singled out for socialization. It would be just as fair to socialize horse racing or the sale of foodstuffs, or, in, as a matter of fact, there is more general interference than in the consumption of liquor. Yet if anyone suggested a government monopoly of any form of business but liquor he would be branded instantly as a Bolshevik and probably deported because it is liquor, any form of communism, any interference with personal liberty, any breach of the laws of economics is accepted without a murmur. The most revolutionary experiment in economics is the very men who are against all forms of economic revolution. The most socialist system imaginable is upheld by the most rabid advocates of a ruthless capitalism. Now that the system is to be brought to its logical conclusion where the prevention of home brewing, these people have no right to complain.

BUT ON OTHER than economic grounds, on human and aesthetic grounds, I deplore the disappearance of the home brewer, for home brewing is about the most beautiful handicraft we have developed in this country. Where other more primitive people have developed home weaving, wood carving, metal working, lace making and many other forms of hand work, our more enlightened and intellectual contribution to the arts in this country is home-made beer. And beer is a worthy contribution. After many disappointments and mistakes, it is becoming worthier all the time. I have tasted beer made in the homes of this country which would entitle its makers to the highest artistic honors within the gifts of the world's academics. Moreover, beer is made mostly by men who have no other hobby, no other outlet for their creative instincts. It is the expression of their most inward selves. It is their creation, their only real contribution to the world's store. To stop them because of a few dollars' worth of beer is to stifle their only creative impulse, and deprive the best parts of their natures, probably more criminals out of them or turn them into stateless men. Mr. Beak, I am quite sure, will embrace Bolshevism and most likely anarchy, and perhaps will run for the Senate. Council if he can no longer subliminate his vital energies in the harmless art of brewing.

BUT THERE is something worse even than this thwarting of our people's artistic nature, worse than the stifling of men's finest faculties and the twisting of their souls. It is worse, I mean, that we are to be deprived of the only decent beer obtainable for the drink whatever the liquor stores choose to offer. No more shall Mr. Beak and his friends open their foaming fury over the kitchen sink. No more shall they weigh its herits, discuss its virtues behind the barn. No more shall we sit in that cool room called the farmhouse at Cowichan and quaff old Jimmie's bottled autumn glory, with beaded bubbles winking at the brim, in the hot days of summer. Instead we shall sit about and condemn the government and with parched lips advocate the very Bolshevism which has brought about our thirst.

THESE ARE the troubled days when to take a look at his own native woods, for it is at this season, perhaps more than any other, that you can get the full flavor and feel of this country, that you can see the reckless growth of it, the inexhaustible fertility of it, the surging energy of it, the fierce rankness and robust life of it. In the spring woods up the Island these days, several weeks behind our own Banish, the spring has just come, the first tender greenness of growth is upon everything, and the darkness and moisture, the brown, juicy smell of winter is still heavy under the big trees.

AND STRANGE things are going on in the forest these days. The great sword ferns are thrusting up their heads, eagerly, as if they were the trunk of an elephant, but ferns are not more hairy. The maidenhair ferns, on their black stems, are wrapped up in neat little round bundles and are just unfolding shyly. The first sleek, sappy stalks of broken ferns are still folded leaves, exactly like little upturned hands with fingers clenched. The trilliums are coloring now with the purple of decay, but the little violets are thick in the low places, with solemn yellow faces, tiny black beards and a single pink eye. If you are lucky you may find lady-slippers, with mouths open in jolly laughter. Sitting on a log over the little spring which talks endless wisdom to the forest, you can watch strange little points of yellow light which run back and forth between the trees, the gleam of the sun on cobwebs which tremble in the least puff of air.

UP ABOVE, the maples are yellow in their fluffy catkins and the first tiny leaves of alder look like a fine green lace hung between the darker evergreens. You don't hear many birds in the big woods, only the distant, soft drumming of a grouse, which is rather a part of the silence. But there is a sense of life in the forest, of restless, ruthless activity, of growth following on growth and plant elbowing plant for room, for the mere privilege of springing up there and dying down again next fall, an endless, insatiable quest, a fierce joy in the mere fact of being alive. That is why it is so good for a civilized man to get out in the woods these days, and see how things go on as usual, that the depression ends with the pavement.

T. D. PATTULLO AT OAK BAY TO-MORROW

T. D. Pattullo, leader of the Liberal Party in British Columbia, will address a public meeting under the auspices of the Oak Bay Liberal Association at 8:15 o'clock to-morrow evening at the United Church Hall, 1798 Hampshire Road, corner Hampshire and Cranmore Roads.

As this is the first occasion on which the leader of the Liberal Party has ever addressed a public meeting in Oak Bay, it is expected there will be a large attendance.

Provincial Health Officer Says Response to Appeal Checked Outbreak

In the May Bulletin of the Provincial Health Department, interesting figures are given in connection with the last outbreak of smallpox in Vancouver. Altogether there were fifty-six cases and sixteen deaths, or a mortality rate of 28.57 per cent.

Two of the cases, it has been established, were infected before coming to the province, and there is some evidence that a third was possibly a fourth source of origin existed.

For six weeks previous to the outbreak in the latter part of December, there had been no cases reported, while in the state of Washington eighty-six cases had been recorded in December. Saskatchewan reported twenty-seven cases and Alberta ten during the same month.

In British Columbia all but four cases were reported from Vancouver and vicinity.

LAST CASE CURED
The last case was discharged as cured on April 2.

Figures shown in a summary establish the fact that thirty-nine out of the fifty-six cases had never been successfully vaccinated prior to infection. The remaining seventeen had been vaccinated at periods varying from fifteen days to fifty-five days previously, their immunity having diminished during this time to the vanishing point.

No one took smallpox who had been successfully vaccinated within the fifteen days preceding infection. Fifteen out of the sixteen deaths from smallpox, or 93.75 per cent had never been vaccinated prior to infection, and the other death case had been inoculated thirty-five years previously.

No deaths occurred in any case vaccinated during the incubation period more than eight days prior to the outbreak.

In age, the cases ranged from one year to sixty-five years, and both sexes were affected equally—twenty-eight males and twenty-eight females. Ninety thousand vaccinations were reported, 80,000 of these from Vancouver and vicinity. Dr. H. Young, provincial health officer, attributes the suppression of the serious epidemic to the prompt response to appeals for all non-vaccinated persons to visit the various clinics and become inoculated. This action, he stated, prevented a far more serious outbreak.

RELIEF WORKER ADMITS THEFT

How a relief worker provided with lodging at a rooming house by the city relief department took away a number of blankets from the place and sold them was described in the City Police Court this morning when Frank Welsh pleaded guilty to the charge of theft and was sentenced to the house of correction.

Twenty-two blankets disappeared from the rooming house on Port Street at the same time as the proprietor, Thomas Williamson, saw Welsh leaving with a canvas bag on Saturday night. Subsequent investigation by Detectives William Stark and Charles Gremer of the city force, resulted in Welsh's arrest.

Detective Stark said he had ascertained the accused had secured $7.85 for seventeen of the blankets.

A previous conviction for passing worthless cheques was recorded against him.

Delivers Address On Fiji Islands

A number of interesting facts about the Fiji Islands were given by C. F. Barker in an address before the Round Table Club yesterday evening.

The Fiji group consisted of 155 islands with an area of 7,400 square miles and were governed jointly by a British commissioner and native officials, Mr. Barker pointed out.

Stating the reasons for the belief there was a link between the Fijians and an ancient race of European origin, Mr. Barker described the great stature and intellectual capacity of the islanders and their prowess at sports, dancing and other physical feats. The soil was fertile and agriculture together with pearl fishing and the copra trade were the principal activities. The natives in this "Paradise of the Pacific" lived always in fear of hurricanes, the speaker added.

THOUSANDS PLACED ON DIRECT RELIEF

Exclusive of Greater Victoria and Greater Vancouver, 2,058 families, 2,696 single persons and 1,289 trailers were placed on direct relief during the month of May according to figures obtained at the Parliament Buildings to-day.

Figures from the two larger cities of the province were not obtainable. The above figures were taken from reports furnished by thirty-one cities throughout the province. Many of these families have already been placed on direct relief, and are applied to the government for information on the land settlement scheme which will be discussed in Vancouver to-morrow, by representatives of the federal and provincial governments, the provincial railways and also by J. A. Leckie, representing the Vancouver Board of Trade. Tentative approval of the federal government's plan for assistance has been given by the provincial government, but no definite agreement has as yet been reached.

Commons Discusses Problems of Farmers

Liberals Ask Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, What Measures He Proposes to Relieve Depression

Ottawa, May 11.—The Commons yesterday evening witnessed that old parliamentary scene—a minister "on the griddle." Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, came before the House for the first time with his departmental estimates.

The depressed conditions among the farmers was the theme of Liberal members as they followed one another in asking the minister what policies he had to remove the industry from the slough of distress. Discussion ran from tariffs to bounties, from potato inspectors in New Brunswick to wheat grading on the prairies, with livestock and butter as side issues.

A full house had gathered for the event. Liberals were there in force, to ask much information from the minister, and Conservatives came to stand behind him.

CANADA STANDS ALONE
Canadian agriculture was similar to that of no other country, said Mr. Weir. Climatic conditions, distances, high railway freight rates and diversified soils made the problem of farming a difficult one to administer.

Discussing and looking at the problem from a non-partisan and wholly Canadian viewpoint, what could agricultural produce and commodities with on the European markets? he asked. To do that factors such as the long haul, uniformity of supply, conditions of production in competing countries and the standards of living in other countries and the like had to be considered. What was one commodity which Canada could produce to advantage. In regard to butter, Australia and New Zealand had more favorable climatic advantages. Only a small surplus of 10,000,000 pounds produced a depression in this commodity.

NO BONUS SCHEME
At the afternoon sitting bonus schemes for wheat, on both a bushel and a acre basis, were rejected definitely by the Commons. Without recorded votes, two motions were defeated, the first moved by Robert Weir, leader of the Farm Bloc, suggesting continuation of the five-cent bounty on export wheat and the second, offered by Dr. Thomas Donnelly, Liberal, William Bunch, Saskatchewan, proposing a ten-cent bounty on a seeded acreage basis.

Although no Cabinet minister took part in the bonus discussion, supporters of the government combined to defeat both motions.

Robert Gardiner, introduced the subject of wheat bounties on a motion to go into supply. The Minister of Agriculture said throughout the discussion, but took no active part.

"What is the government going to do about wheat? The Minister of Agriculture said, "I have no objection to a bonus of five cents a bushel on production. This had helped the wheat farmers. It had given them hope, as well as assisting them financially. Introducing that legislation, the Prime Minister had informed the House it was justified by the low price levels. This condition still prevailed, Mr. Gardiner said.

Mr. Campbell, Progressive, Mackenzie, asked the amendment. He said that all farmers were in a bad way, but the position of the wheat-growers was far worse than any others.

MISS MACPAIL SPEAKS
"This request for a bonus shows just how ridiculous the situation is. The whole bonus system has brought us declared, Miss Agnes MacPail, Progressive, Southeast Grey, Ont. "All through Canada was a pioneer country, essentially dependent on its four basic industries of agriculture, mining, lumbering and fishing, the government had been getting, pauperizing and the cost of the basic industries until the burden has become more than we can bear."

"It makes my Scotch blood boil when I think of it," exclaimed the only woman member of the Commons. "At now we have the farmers coming to the government hat in hand and very polite, asking for a bonus. I'd rather do without the five cents."

"I'll tell the government how to create a bonus to everybody," Miss MacPail went on. "Deflate the dollar to the level of the pound sterling or load the net in imports so our exports can be sold at a profit, operate freely." While she was aware it would completely obliterate.

GARLAND'S VIEWS
E. J. Garland, U.F.A., Bow River, was heard in agreement regarding the desirability of having a marketing board. He would go farther and see Canada's external trade all handled by an import and export board. That was his aim.

"I have nothing to add to what I have said," the minister replied.

It was obvious from the minister's remarks, Mr. Garland said, there was no intention to appoint such a board. The next session of Parliament, he believed it would be better to act at once and go into the Imperial Conference with an agricultural policy completely outlined.

Chamberlain Asks British People's Support for Downward Revision

London, May 11.—A warning that still more drastic cuts in British national expenditures may be necessary was given yesterday evening by Rt. Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in an address at the annual dinner of the Bankers' Association.

Mr. Chamberlain went further, by saying that effective relief for the taxpayers would involve "changes in national policy which go far beyond anything that has yet been contemplated." The Chancellor, however, qualified his statement by adding he did not wish to say it might be necessary at this moment to inflict further trials on the nation, but if the government were forced by pressure of circumstances to carry out new and more drastic reductions in expenditures he trusted it would have the support of all clear-thinking citizens.

CHURCHILL SPEAKS
Only a few hours before Anglo-United States co-operation for a world money conference had been urged in the Commons by Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Chancellor of the Exchequer.

"I regard international action to prevent a further drop in prices as the only method of avoiding a world crash far greater than anything we have experienced up to now," he said. Mr. Churchill restated his suggestion for British-U.S. co-operation as a means of bringing France into such a movement.

NEW ECONOMY MOVE IN U.S.

Associated Press
Washington, May 11.—At a bi-partisan White House breakfast with members of the U.S. Senate economy committee, President Hoover today set under way a new money-saving programme in the senate along the same lines as that riddled by the House of Representatives. The drive specifically is aimed at a goal of saving $300,000,000 or more through reduced appropriations and governmental consolidations. The treasury deficit approached the $2,500,000,000 mark to-day. On May 9 it had reached $2,495,362,365.

DEBATE TASKS OF CONFERENCE

Liberals Urge Impediments to Empire Economic Gathering at Ottawa Be Removed

Ottawa, May 11.—The Commons yesterday had a preliminary skirmish on problems to be faced when the statesmen of the British Commonwealth of Nations gather in Ottawa in July at the Imperial Economic Conference. Premier Bennett said preparations for the gathering were well advanced. Committees were considering different problems, information was being gathered on the three broad subjects to be discussed—trade, communications and currencies. Each of the Dominions had intimated its intention of being represented and, with the exception of New Zealand and the Irish Free State, had announced its delegates. The Prime Minister said he himself would head the Canadian delegation. Different cabinet ministers would be called in depending on the subject under discussion. When in opposition in 1925, Mr. Bennett had proposed holding an economic conference in Ottawa and had mentioned, as the two main headings on the agenda, settlement and development," said Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader. To-day he had mentioned neither of those headings while making his statement on the forthcoming conference. He would like to know if they were to be included in the agenda, and if so, what the government's policy would be. Mr. Bennett said he had named settlement and development as two important matters that should be discussed. The idea was that there were wide open spaces in Canada in dire need of settlers, while there were parts of the empire congested with overpopulation, and that there should be a more even distribution. The universal depression, of the present precluded any useful discussion of that problem at the moment and it was unlikely to form a major topic at the conference in July, he said. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Liberal, Quebec East, inquired if the statement of Mr. Bennett at the 1930 Imperial Conference offering a preference "based on a 10 per cent preference" was hard and fixed. "That was by way of illustration only," the Prime Minister declared. "I made that abundantly clear if the honorable gentleman will read it." The conference next July would be entirely an economic conference, said the Prime Minister. The countries of the empire would meet under unusual world conditions, and there was no necessity to dwell on the seriousness of world-wide conditions now. Mutual advantage to every section of the empire would be the objective of the first Imperial Economic Conference to be held in Canada, he said. Mr. Bennett believed the conference must "sit down and consider the development of the resources of the empire." These resources were scattered over the world. They were held in trust by the Crown. A branch of this problem was development of trade. He had always believed in trade reciprocity as between the different parts of the empire. The British Commonwealth constituted the "greatest estate which Providence ever gave a people," Mr. Bennett proceeded. Its development was a trust. At the Ottawa conference endeavor would be made so to adjust relations that benefits would accrue to all parts of the empire. VIEWS CHANGED He was pleased, said Hon. Ernest Lapointe, that the Prime Minister considered the coming conference to be "free from the impediments of the past." Mr. Bennett seemed to have modified the view he held at the 1930 conference, although he would not admit it. Mr. Lapointe expressed the opinion the adoption of protection in Great Britain was merely a temporary thing. Many men of importance in the council of Great Britain were now pleading against it. If the Ottawa conference was to be a success, it must proceed along the lines of lowering the tariff, Mr. Lapointe said. It would be impossible to proceed along the lines of the last conference and achieve success.

Have you ever held a One-in-the-morning Conference with yourself?

If, like many other men, you have held many a one-in-the-morning conference with yourself, you know that it takes a lot of time, capital and "luck" to make money "easily". Records show that too many things may happen to upset the best laid plans.

Happenings of the past few years prove that it is of far greater importance to the average man to provide for himself and family a substantial estate now, plus the certainty of an income in later life, rather than take speculative chances.

"Certainty" is a better friend than "luck" and a Confederation Life policy, on the "Life Income" plan, provides for that "certainty" and guarantees the security of capital to your estate under all circumstances. Write for particulars of this Confederation Life Income plan and learn how easy it is to benefit by it.

Property Disputes Believed Reason of Doukhobor Trouble

Expelled Members Paraded in Nude to Protest Share Allotment

SECT HOLDS $3,145,467
BRITISH COLUMBIA ASSETS

All Titles to Vast Holdings Vested in Verigin and Thirteen Directors

Now that Peter Verigin, head of the Doukhobor settlements in Canada, is removed as an active figurehead in the affairs of the colonies, much conjecture has been aroused as to the future management of the vast estates in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia.

Pursual of the articles of incorporation at the Parliament Buildings reveals some interesting facts. Incorporated as a Dominion corporation in April, 1917, with extra-provincial registration in British Columbia, the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. of Canada, is capitalized at $1,000,000 in 10,000 shares of the value of $100 each.

Of this capitalization $700,000 is paid-up. But the 7,000 issued shares are held in the names of Peter Verigin and thirteen directors, each holding 500 shares.

At a meeting held at Brilliant on March 31, 1930, attended by forty-seven delegates, a motion was unanimously passed that each shareholder severally and jointly hereby confirm the declaration that all shares are transferred under the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. and also hereby revokes all interest in shares in property of the community.

TRANSFERRED PROPERTIES
On April 24, 1930, Joseph P. Shukin, general manager of the Christian Community at Brilliant, wrote the Registrar of Stock Companies calling attention to the fact that "from those documents you will find that the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. of Canada, has abolished all capital stock shares, and the members through their authorized delegates, have transferred all their properties, real and personal, to the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. of Canada, who represent in itself the legal person—owner of all such properties. All the affairs of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. of Canada, are administered by the Supreme Council of Community Economics, of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood Ltd. of Canada.

It is also stipulated that all members deprive themselves of all rights to ownership of real and personal properties during their life in the community and when leaving its membership, as members they "enjoy all belongings but have no right of ownership to anything in the community."

Members leaving or expelled "forfeit all rights to property but may petition the Supreme Council of Community Economics of the Christian Community which can allow a certain share from the community's properties. Decision of the Supreme Council shall be final and not subjected to complaints."

TROUBLE CAUSE

This latter clause, it is believed by authorities, has caused much of the present trouble at Brilliant. Recalcitrants expelled from the Community are dissatisfied with the share allotted them by the Economic Council and staged nude parades in protest against the council's award.

In returns filed January 1, 1930, with the registrar here, the British Columbia assets are given as follows:

Farm lands, 21,919.44 acres, valued at $3,145,467; and buildings to a valuation of $400,000. Industrial and commercial enterprises, $386,000; implements and machinery, $35,000; livestock, $108,500; and town property, $173,800. Total assets, $4,449,417.

In Saskatchewan the Community held 34,023.83 acres of land valued at $698,000.17, with buildings thereon held at a value of $106,500. Industrial and commercial holdings are valued at $126,164; implements and machinery at $52,000; livestock $124,550; and town property at $70,010, or a total valuation of $1,270,633.17.

A smaller settlement is shown in Alberta, where 11,397.06 acres are held at $414,742, with buildings at $38,900, and industrial commercial holdings at $58,000. Implements and machinery are shown as worth $18,000; livestock $57,880; and town property at $5,050, or a total of $490,572.

Total holdings in Canada are shown as 67,340.33 acres and land and other properties are given a valuation of $6,410,622.77. Doukhobor activities in the three provinces, outside of farming, include sawmills, planing mills, flour mills and granaries box factory, stove pipe factory, jam and canning establishments, fruit packing houses and grain elevator.

LARGEST SETTLEMENT HERE
Alberta's Doukhobor population numbers 250; that of Saskatchewan 1,000 in two settlements—400 at Kylemore and 600 at Verigin; British Columbia has the largest settlements, there being 1,000 in the Grand Forks district, with 9,000 in three settlements in and adjacent to Brilliant. In the latter group are numbered the 600 Sons of Freedom who have caused such turmoil during the last ten days.

As shown by the minutes of a meeting held on March 31, 1930, all title to the vast holdings of more than 5,000 Doukhobors are vested in the hands of Verigin and his thirteen directors. This was by unanimous consent. Should disintegration follow the imprisonment of Verigin, the economic council has power to eject these 5,000 members of the Christian Community from all lands belonging to the managing directorate without redress of any kind. The future management of Doukhobor affairs is being watched with interest by authorities here who marvel at the autocratic powers vested in the thirteen directors still at liberty.

These thirteen men elect a new leader from among their own number, ask for a receivership or request a winding-up order. It is believed disintegration might follow either one of the latter two courses, while a continuance of the present arrangement it is thought probable will cause further unrest, particularly among the younger generation who hold more modern views than their elders.

"SURE I'll have some!"
Men always smile when you offer a Rowntree bar. After a lot of smoking, or when the work drags in the afternoon, a bit of Rowntree's kind of chocolate cheers you up no end. Pure, creamy rich, its quick energy gives you new pep in six minutes! Take a tip, and keep a couple handy at work, and in the pocket of the car. It's a good habit thousands have. Choose the kind you like best—perhaps "York Nut Milk" Chocolate. But be sure it says Rowntree's on the wrapper. A nickel anywhere.

SAANICH TAX BY-LAW PASSED

Council Levies Twenty-eight Mills, Unchanged From Last Year

"We must do considerable shaving of other expenses if we are to have anything to spend on the roads," commented Councillor F. Bryden yesterday evening, before the Saanich council finally passed the annual tax by-law. The measure levies a rate of twenty-eight mills, unchanged from that in effect last year.

Councillor Borden also complained that no money whatever remained for road maintenance during the balance of the year.

Councillor W. R. Woods said it was a mistake to sacrifice the roads to avoid an increase in the levy.

Councillor Hagan said: "We must cut our coat according to our cloth, like any business concern."

Ernie Crouch said the budget had been "more than balanced." He pointed out that a bank overdraft of $30,000, inherited from last year, had been fully repaid. He protested against reopening discussion, as the matter had been thoroughly threshed out at earlier council sessions.

The by-law was then finally passed, with Councillor Woods recorded as dissenting.

LOWER MAINLAND PRODUCE IS CUT

Shortage of Vegetables May Soon Be Over; Expect New Potatoes Soon

Head lettuce, spinach and early heads of cauliflower are being cut on the lower mainland, according to word received at the Parliament Buildings today from G. E. Clarke, district agriculturist at Abbotsford.

Early potatoes, turnips and cabbage will be ready in two or three weeks. This will be welcome news to housewives throughout the province who feared the embargo on ground vegetables from the coast states, imposed on account of the prevalence of foot and mouth disease, would prove a hardship.

St. John's A.Y.P.A.
To Help With Play

St. John's A.Y.P.A. held a short business meeting Monday evening in the guild room. Stanley Cooper, Jack Laver, John Hooper and S. C. Hawkins were appointed as committee to help the Cathedral A.Y.P.A. in putting on the play, "Follow Thou Me," on May 26 in the Memorial Hall. A full report on this play was given by John Hooper. Jack Laver gave a report on the local council meeting held last Thursday. A nominating committee was appointed to select suitable nominees for election to offices for next year. Mr. and Mrs. Hawkins and Rev. Canon Chadwick were unanimously elected to take charge of this important part of our year's programme. S. C. Hawkins presented a group picture to the A.Y.P.A. of the recent conference held in New Westminster. Mr. Hawkins was thanked and it was moved that the picture be framed and placed in the A.Y.P.A. room.

After the business meeting the members all took part in a musical concert. Several pieces were played by Miss Kathleen Brown on the piano, and each member was required to write down the name of the piece if he or she knew it. After this was over Jack Laver recited "Pierre Marchande," which was much enjoyed.

TRADE NATURAL VOICE OF PEACE

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald Tells Clubwomen of Conditions in Pacific

Says Commerce Great Vehicle of Understanding Between Canada and Other Nations

"History shows that peace is not to be attained by one nation securing economic supremacy over another... A new conception of international relations is developing the principle that the nation which is the greatest benefactor of others is the nation which is willing to promote the moral, cultural and commercial interests of other nations and willing to raise them to its own standards... Commerce is the great vehicle of civilization and natural voice of peace."

With the enunciation of this sentiment, Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald closed his thoughtful and analytical address on "The Pacific Bowl" before the Women's Canadian Club yesterday afternoon.

CHANGING ATTITUDE

In his preamble the speaker touched upon the changing attitude towards Oriental matters in Canada. Twenty years ago the problem had been discussed in Canada from one angle only—that of the need for Oriental exclusion—but today public thought had widened to new horizons with the opening up of trading possibilities in the Orient.

He sketched the history of early navigation and exploration on the Pacific from the days of Marco Polo to the last of European navigators, showing how their discoveries had led to subsequent economic and political contact with the two ancient civilizations of China and Japan.

"The Pacific is a great experimental station in which we are vitally concerned. Canada now boasts of national status and it is essential that we widen our horizons by studying Pacific problems," urged Mr. Justice Macdonald. "We must arouse an interest in this absorbing study and in the new Pacific era which is arising before us, to get our people attuned aright so that should differences arise, they may be reduced to a minimum."

WESTWARD

Tracing the development of civilization through its three stages, that of the potamic era, when people congregated beside the river banks, that of the thalassic era when they lived beside the inland seas, and the present period, the oceanic era, he noted the tide of civilization was gradually moving from the Atlantic to the Pacific, which was becoming a new significance, sea ports rivaling the ports of Europe and the Atlantic seaboard.

While Japan had at first resisted the advent of Occidental contact, it later had welcomed it with avidity and in a short space of eighty years had developed into a first-class power. But Occidental contact had produced a diametrically opposite effect in China, which had resisted it reluctantly until today that republic was a seething cauldron of chaos and misunderstanding. If the Mongols had gone ahead as fast as Japan, they might well have dominated the world, perhaps with insidious effect, declared the speaker, although they are of a peaceable nature.

Tribute was paid to the ancient civilization and to its culture, the speaker observing that in any relations with China it was a great problem to find the common ground of Chinese standards.

A CHANGING CHINA

The history of the treaties and concessions and extra-territorial privileges was reviewed. China had many problems and claimed that the concessions granted to foreigners had been at the root of the trouble, but its lack of social order and discipline was the great problem in the opinion of the speaker. He graphically pictured a China undergoing a gradual transformation and gradually drawing about itself the habitations of a western civilization, with its 450,000,000 people, buying themselves with life's affairs. He pictured them moving about, not in the rickshaws of to-day, but on up-to-date roads in modern cars, on modern railroads, developing the vast potential wealth of the country, including its mineral wealth, its coalfields, which were declared to be richer than anywhere else in the world.

"This ancient giant, which has been shackled for centuries, is breaking its bonds, and if we in Canada do not get our fair share of this potential trade, we shall be laggards in the race. The aggressive action of Japan may hasten the day of China's awakening and we must be prepared," the speaker said.

"GREAT BRITAIN" OF ORIENT

"Declaring that Japan occupied a position in the Pacific Ocean similar to that of Great Britain in the Atlantic, Mr. Justice Macdonald showed the various points of comparison between the two nations: both geographically and politically. The islands in the Pacific, with China and Japan, may become the stamping ground for the diplomacy of the world, was the speaker's observation.

Canadians should have no misconceptions of their Japanese neighbors, he observed, reviewing their characteristics and noting that the germ of democracy was fructifying in that ancient civilization. He hoped that as the sun of democracy arose in Japan so would its war-like proclivities fade into the background. The Pacific meant peace, and to attain that ideal it was essential to practice the moral golden rule and to develop that public opinion which was the only bulwark against war-like tendencies.

TRADERS PEACE-MAKERS

No-one was better equipped to bring about world peace, to act as barometers of mutual understanding, than the traders, the speaker said. The merchant was the true cosmopolitan, bringing together in friendly intercourse the far ends of the earth. History showed that peace was to be obtained, not by one nation securing an economic supremacy over another, but by a much bigger conception, by realizing that the prosperity of other nations reflected the conditions of one's own nation.

HOSPITAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Jubilee and St. Joseph's "At Home" to Public To-morrow Afternoon

Usual Commemoration of Florence Nightingale's Birthday Arranged

To-morrow, the anniversary of the birthday of Florence Nightingale, pioneer of modern nursing, will be celebrated as Hospital Day, local institutions observing the day by holding "open house" as in former years.

At the Jubilee Hospital, which will be open to the public from 2 to 6 o'clock in the afternoon, groups of nurses will be detailed off to show visitors through the various departments, X-ray, operating room, children's ward, T.B. department, public wards and sunrooms. Under the auspices of the Florence Nightingale Chapter I.O.D.E. a silver tea and bridge party will be held at the Nurses' Home the same afternoon.

At St. Joseph's the women's auxiliary, under the direction of the president, Mrs. Walter Fraser, will have charge of the occasion. Between 2 and 5 o'clock the public will be welcomed and shown over the hospital by nurses, and tea will be served in the Nurses' Home.

In order not to conflict with the observance at the city institutions, "Rest Haven Sanatorium" at Sidney held "open house" to-day, many citizens taking advantage of the afternoon holiday to inspect the institution. The various departments were thrown open for inspection and afternoon tea was served.

NONAGENARIAN IS HONORED

Many Birthday Tributes Received By Mrs. David Spencer Sr. Yesterday

Church and women's organizations joined with a host of personal friends in tendering congratulations and wishes to Mrs. David Spencer Sr. yesterday on the occasion of her ninetieth birthday, the many expressions reflecting the widespread and affectionate esteem in which this pioneer resident is held throughout the community.

Among the earliest gifts received at the family residence, "Landerwen," Moss Street, was a magnificent basket of flowers bearing the combined greetings of the staff of the Victoria branch of David Spencer Limited.

Rev. E. F. Church, pastor of Metropolitan Church, of which Mrs. Spencer has been a faithful attendant since her arrival here in 1883, called to tender his felicitations early in the day, his visit being followed later in the afternoon by a deputation representing the board of the church with their wives, Arthur Lee, who headed the deputation, presented Mrs. Spencer with a lovely basket of roses, the gift being accompanied by a poem specially written by Mr. Lee for the occasion, recalling Mrs. Spencer's sixty years' devoted adherence to the church.

Mrs. Spencer, who was obviously touched by the tributes, gratefully acknowledged the gift and greetings.

Other floral greetings received by the nonagenarian during the day included a beautiful bouquet of flowers from Mayor David Leeming, a bouquet of flowers from the Women's Canadian Club, and a basket of lilies of the valley presented by Mrs. William Grant on behalf of the W.C.T.U. Rescue Home, of which Mrs. Spencer was the first president, and in which she has served twice to the same position. The Women's Christian Temperance unions also sent flowers.

The group who had visited the silversmith workshop of Carmichael, Fort Street, had found the experience a beautiful and enlightening one. Sadder, convener of home economics, reported. The members plan a visit on Wednesday, May 28, to Swift's Canadian Company establishment on Store Street. Many of the members present expressed their willingness to purchase the booklet on fish cookery, sponsored by the Department of Fisheries, Ottawa.

A new member, Mrs. E. Norman, was welcomed. At the next meeting a miscellaneous shower will be held for the brass tub for the garden party.

Hostesses for the social hour, following the business meeting, were Mesdames W. Booth, F. Locke, L. Garrett and O. Williamson.

I.O.D.E. To Hold
Christmas Card
Design Contest

The I.O.D.E. is again offering prizes for a Christmas card design, the entries to close November 1 of this year. The following conditions govern the competition: This competition is open to all British subjects resident in Canada, whether professional or amateur.

The same prize will not be awarded twice to the same person. More than one prize will not be awarded to the same person in any one year.

The design submitted shall be an original sketch in colors (size about 8 1/2 x 11 1/2). The subject for this year's competition is a Canadian Christmas scene. A competitor may submit more than one design, but each entry should be sent separately.

Entries should be marked "Christmas Card Competition" and should be sent to the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 416 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5, Ontario, on or before November 1, 1932. Each design submitted should be marked with an assumed name, and should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing both the real and the assumed names of the competitor. Arrangements will be made by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire to have the design winning the first prize published as a Christmas card.

The prizes will not necessarily be awarded if, in the estimation of the judges, no entry merits the award. All winning designs shall become the property of the order. No entry will be returned unless it is accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope suitable for the return of the sketch.

Esquimalt W.I. Repeated Comedy
To Hold Garden
Fete In July

Before an appreciative audience, the Players' Club of the Baptist Women's Union repeated their amusing comedy "Aunt Susan's Visit" at the Memorial Hall yesterday evening, the proceeds to aid the women's workroom fund. Every part was splendidly taken by the able cast which included Miss Gertrude Davis, May Pollard, Mrs. McGill, S. Honeychurch, Mrs. Ebert, Miss Lily Shaw, Lenard Nicolai, Mrs. Beach, Miss Winnie Beckwith, Miss Phyllis Edwards, G. Beach, Miss Doris Ledson, Mrs. MacLean, Miss Jessie Reynolds, Miss Hazel Clyde, Mrs. Stewart, Miss Dorothy Parsons, Mrs. McCow, Mrs. R. McIntosh and James Matheson.

Arrangements were made at the monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Women's Institute, held yesterday evening in the Parish Hall, for a afternoon garden fete and card party to be held on July 7 at the residence of Mrs. W. Booth, Esquimalt Road. The following conveners were appointed: General convenor, Mrs. Booth; home cooking, Mrs. Raymond; sewing, Mrs. W. Booth; Esquimalt Road, The following conveners were appointed: Mrs. J. Rogers and Mrs. H. Greener, books, Mrs. T. H. Cave; bran tub, Mrs. Pooock, Mrs. A. Stewart, Mrs. W. Bradley, Mrs. M. Kennedy, Mrs. W. Doyle and Mrs. G. Williamson. The following committee in charge of the tea arrangements, Mrs. McDuff will be at the gate. Mrs. F. Locke will convene the bridge tables.

A "hard time" dance and card party will be given at the Parish Hall on Thursday, May 26, it was announced by Mrs. T. H. Cave, convenor of ways and means. She reported that the last social evening had been a great financial success.

The group who had visited the silversmith workshop of Carmichael, Fort Street, had found the experience a beautiful and enlightening one. Sadder, convener of home economics, reported. The members plan a visit on Wednesday, May 28, to Swift's Canadian Company establishment on Store Street. Many of the members present expressed their willingness to purchase the booklet on fish cookery, sponsored by the Department of Fisheries, Ottawa.

A new member, Mrs. E. Norman, was welcomed. At the next meeting a miscellaneous shower will be held for the brass tub for the garden party.

Hostesses for the social hour, following the business meeting, were Mesdames W. Booth, F. Locke, L. Garrett and O. Williamson.

The I.O.D.E. is again offering prizes for a Christmas card design, the entries to close November 1 of this year. The following conditions govern the competition: This competition is open to all British subjects resident in Canada, whether professional or amateur.

The same prize will not be awarded twice to the same person. More than one prize will not be awarded to the same person in any one year.

The design submitted shall be an original sketch in colors (size about 8 1/2 x 11 1/2). The subject for this year's competition is a Canadian Christmas scene. A competitor may submit more than one design, but each entry should be sent separately.

Entries should be marked "Christmas Card Competition" and should be sent to the National Educational Secretary, Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, 416 Bloor Street East, Toronto 5, Ontario, on or before November 1, 1932. Each design submitted should be marked with an assumed name, and should be accompanied by a sealed envelope containing both the real and the assumed names of the competitor. Arrangements will be made by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire to have the design winning the first prize published as a Christmas card.

The prizes will not necessarily be awarded if, in the estimation of the judges, no entry merits the award. All winning designs shall become the property of the order. No entry will be returned unless it is accompanied by a stamped and addressed envelope suitable for the return of the sketch.

Digestive Disorders

From experience, many pleased Mothers strongly advise giving children BABY'S OWN TABLETS

"My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick in her stomach... what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was," writes Mrs. James Halligan, Fenelon Falls, Ontario.

Mrs. Ben Slavenwhite, Armadale, N.S., says: "My baby had stomach trouble and I was nearly frantic until the woman next door gave me some Baby's Own Tablets, and they made her quite well."

"My baby has no more gas, fevers or digestive trouble since I have known about Baby's Own Tablets," states DR. WILLIAMS'

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRIE MEYER ELDER

WATCH THE YOUNG TRAVELER'S DIET

We may take for granted that the seasonal migration from town to country, from mountain to sea, from here to there, is going to give rise to the problems of transporting and changing the children's diet.

MILK AND WATER

The danger of changing from one type of milk to another of unknown source, of changing from city water to well water, may, unless recognized, effect any advantages to be gained from a change of climate and temperature and environment. One cannot judge the merits of either milk or water by looking at it, and in many summer resorts the water is piped directly from lakes, or derived from wells of dubious cleanliness and purity. One's safeguard against change of milk and water is to boil both of them. "Boil milk for 3 minutes and water for 10 minutes as a sufficient precaution against any dangers until one can check on the sources of these essential supplies.

While traveling, one can make use of evaporated or dried milks, which are easy to carry and prepare, and can be bought anywhere and used indefinitely. Such milks, in addition to oranges, prepared cereals, cans of sliced fruits and vegetables, and bread-and-butter constitute a diet good enough for any length of time. Sliced fruits and vegetables or soups for children come in convenient, small-sized cans. Their preparation requires only a can opener and a pan for heating to be used in conjunction with canned heat or an electric stove.

The mother who is about to embark on a journey by either rail or road will want my leaflet, "Necessities for a Comfortable Journey," which suggests the apparel suitable for the children when traveling, the necessary equipment and supplies for feeding them, and some of the toys which can be carried and enjoyed on the way. Send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Mrs. Eldred of the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

DON'T EXPERIMENT

There is a general tendency of mothers to offset the tedium of traveling by offering frequent lunches of cold sausage or fruit, cookies, cakes and copious drinks of ice water. The combination of constant motion, excitement, and the novelty of being allowed to eat anything at any old hour is responsible for the upset stomachs and irritable dispositions of the young traveler. The journey should be memorable because of new scenes and new faces and new adventures, not because of new foods. The diet should be as nearly as possible like that at home. It is time enough to experiment with diet when the child has made his adjustment to his new environment. To-morrow: "Is Your Baby Too Fond of His Thumb?"

Lowell Sherman Is Divorced By Helene Costello

Los Angeles, May 11.—Helene Costello, screen actress, who married Lowell Sherman, director-actor, in 1930 and left him in November, 1931, was granted a divorce here yesterday. A property settlement has been effected, but the terms were not divulged.

"He charged I was extravagant and his continuous nagging forced me to leave our home," the actress told the court. "Mr. Sherman continually referred to me as his mental inferior."

It all started with a divorce suit by Sherman, but the judge denied a decree to the actor-director and ruled in favor of the actress.

Mooseheart Women.—The women of the Moose, Victoria Chapter No. 23, held their regular business meeting in the K. of C. Hall Monday evening. Senior Regent A. Hatcher presiding. Legionnaire H. H. Hatcher was reported sick. A report of the banquet was given by the senior regent. In honor of her recent marriage, Legionnaire H. Hatcher was presented with a silver spoon from the chapter and a silver rose basket from the members. The recipient of the gifts was escorted to the platform by the guides and drill team to receive the congratulations of the chapter members. A report by Legionnaire Herring was read on the recent visit of the local chapter to the women of the Moose in Nanaimo, which was represented by twenty-two members of the chapter, who were given an enthusiastic welcome by the Nanaimo chapter. Senior Regent H. H. Hatcher of Nanaimo Chapter was presented with a bouquet of flowers in the colors of the order. Senior Regent A. Hatcher was appointed delegate to the Northwest Moose Convention in June, to be held in Wenatchee, Wash.

NANAIMO FUNERAL

Nanaimo, May 11.—In the presence of a large concourse of friends, funeral services for the late Ralph E. Hastings were held Monday afternoon at Jenkins' Chapel, with Rev. W. P. Bunt as officiating minister, assisted by Rev. W. R. Welch and Rev. J. C. Switzer, the latter a close friend of the family for many years. Mr. Switzer, who is chairman of the Victoria presbytery of the United Church of Canada, spoke at the service in the chapel, during which two hymns were sung by the assembly. Interment was made in Nanaimo Cemetery.

Ladies' Choir To Compete In B.C. Music Festival

At the regular rehearsal of the Victoria Ladies' Choir yesterday evening plans were completed for the forthcoming visit of this organization to Vancouver for the purpose of competing in the British Columbia Musical Festival on Saturday evening next.

Various methods for the raising of funds in order to finance this trip have been employed. Several members have very kindly loaned their homes for bridge-and-ice-and-two-home-cooking sales were held in the basement of Spencer's store, all of which have been very successful. One of the most interesting money-making plans was a raffle of a hand-painted luncheon set donated by Mrs. Devlin. The drawing on this set took place yesterday evening when Mrs. P. Fryatt held the winning number.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian young people met on Monday evening. Rev. H. P. S. Lottrell conducted the devotional period and Allan Anderson sang a solo. During the business period all young people were especially invited to attend the debate next Monday evening with the Knox Church Young People's Society. Interesting moving pictures of various parts of the world, loaned by the C.P.R., were shown.

LORD GRENFELL TO WED SOON

Miss Betty Shaughnessy Engaged to Son of Famous Field-Marshal

Canadian Press
London, May 11.—The engagement is announced of Betty Shaughnessy, granddaughter of the first Lord Shaughnessy, and Lord Grenfell, son of the famous field marshal, the first Baron Grenfell.

Miss Shaughnessy, whose own father was killed in action in 1916, is an attractive girl of nineteen, and is well-known in society. Her mother is now the wife of Lieut.-Col. Piers-Legh, equerry to the Prince of Wales since 1919.

Lord Grenfell is twenty-six years of age. He succeeded to the title on the death of his father in 1925.

CHAPTER PLANS GARDEN PARTY

H.M.S. Resolution I.O.D.E. to Hold Affair at Mrs. S. L. Howe's

That the recent Maytime frolic had proved an outstanding success was reported at the monthly meeting of H.M.S. Resolution Chapter I.O.D.E. held at the home of Mrs. Clifford Adams, Transit Road. A hearty vote of thanks was passed to Miss Vivian Combe and Mrs. S. M. Oliver for the delightful cabaret numbers arranged by them.

Plans were made for a garden party in June, for which Mrs. S. L. Howe has kindly offered her beautiful garden. The chapter will also have charge of the intercession service to be held at St. Mary's Church, Oak Bay, on May 22. Mrs. S. Oliver reported entertaining the educational secretaries, together with nine of the Victoria bursary holders and the provincial and municipal regents at tea at her home recently, a delightful way of establishing personal contact with those engaged in the educational work of the order and the recipients of its awards. Mrs. C. Adams reported on the recent Municipal Chapter meeting. Donations of $10 were voted to educational work and to Municipal Chapter $6.25 towards the cost of delegates' expenses. The chapter voted to reserve a table at the Empire Day luncheon at Spencer's on May 23. A special meeting of the chapter will be held at the home of Mrs. R. C. Farrow on May 31.

Soroptimist Club Is Formed Here; Officers Chosen

A Victoria branch of the Soroptimists was formed yesterday evening by Mrs. R. J. Spott of Vancouver, assisted by Mrs. M. E. Graham, vice-president of the American Federation. Officers chosen were: President, Miss Alma Russell; vice-president, Miss Little Brown; secretary, Mrs. Dorothy Spurr; treasurer, Mrs. Elizabeth Mills.

The board of directors includes: Miss R. Donogh, Mrs. Fred Robertson, Miss Baxter, Miss P. Pottinger, Mrs. F. Miller, Mrs. P. H. Edwards.

Mrs. Spott explained the aims and objects of the Soroptimist organization, and told of the work of the Vancouver branch which has as one of its principal objectives the founding of a hostel for women in need of help because of old age and the befriending of business women who may require temporary financial assistance.

An inaugural banquet is to be held May 21 at the Empress Hotel.

Mr. C. A. Whitlock of the Cunard Line, who has been spending a couple of days in Victoria on business, left to-day on his return to Vancouver.

Capt. Fred Ordano of 974 Balmoral Road, left recently for Alaska and will return to Victoria in the fall.

MIXED WEDDINGS

PROVED LEGAL

Anglican Bishop Replies to Recent Roman Catholic Pronouncement

Quebec, May 11.—A marriage solemnized between a member of the Roman Catholic Church and an Anglican by an Anglican clergyman is perfectly valid, and cannot be annulled, Rt. Rev. L. W. Williams, Anglican Bishop of Quebec, told delegates at the thirty-ninth session of the Diocesan Synod here.

In the course of his charge the bishop referred at length to the recent General Synod of the Church of England in Canada and dealt particularly with the question of "mixed" marriages.

"Whatever regulations the Church of Rome may see fit to make in her own breast in the case of mixed marriages," the bishop declared—"and these regulations have been very prominently broadcast of late—it ought to be made perfectly clear to our own church people that a marriage duly solemnized between a Roman Catholic and a member of the Church of England by one of our own clergy is perfectly valid and cannot be annulled."

That was definitely decided, the bishop stated, by decision of the Privy Council in London in 1931 in a case of that nature.

Lieutenant-Governor J. W. Fordham Johnson and Mrs. Johnson spent yesterday at Books Harbor, being guests at the Books Harbor House. They viewed the new protection works being erected on Whiffin Spit by the Dominion Department of Public Works, and expressed their delight with the scenic beauty of the district.

Letters Of Mimi

Lack of Stimulating Conversation; Conversational Topics of Our Parents' Day; Interest and Vivacity Shown by Foreigners When Talking; Parlor Games Poor Substitute for Good Talk; How to Develop Personality.

Dear Marge:—It is a natural instinct for people to want to meet together and talk, yet on most occasions where the opportunity is presented, good conversation withers and dies before it has a chance to get started, because of the fear and self-consciousness that most of us feel. In consequence conversation is seldom a very stimulating affair.

Yet most of us have had that rare experience when a group (including interested listeners as well as interesting talkers) would drift effortlessly into good talk, and such an occasion is always a memorable one for those who shared it.

The best conversation is based on companionship, but there is nothing to keep us from extending it into less casual acquaintanceships. Fear of being misunderstood or "accused" of being too serious or cocksure is the reason so few of us contribute anything worthwhile to conversation or an interchange of ideas. We reserve the rich field of ideas, personal experiences and opinions, for our more intimate discussions with those whose judgment we do not fear.

The lost art of conversation! You read and hear so much about it now that we believe it. But the truth is that the conversation of our immediate ancestors was no more interesting and vital than our own. Criticism is heard that movies and sports, bridge and a light smattering of affairs of the day compose our social intercourse. They may, but if you look into the conversation of our forefathers you find that their conversation was confined to home, family and affairs of the day, which in comparison leaves nothing to be desired. In their day manners superseded conversation, and it was expected of one that he listen with interest to the most obvious and conventional remarks. This type of conversation is not heard so much in these days, and that is, I think, an improvement; nor are we in this cynical and skeptical age so prone to listen and believe old sentiments whose origin and basis were adages—now outworn.

WATCH THE FOREIGNERS

Foreigners seem to have the knack of interesting and animated conversation. We have all seen a group of two or more foreigners, sitting at a dinner table become so agitated and excited that we felt a fight was imminent, only to find out they were discussing some trivial matter, such as the flavor of some food or the excellence of some wine. On the other hand it is not an uncommon sight in this country to see two people eat dinner together in almost total silence. It is amiable enough, but nevertheless it is deadly dull.

That is why parlor games such as bridge, backgammon, ping pong and the like are arranged for guests by every thoughtful hostess. Well, she knows that annual will settle like a cloud over her party, if left to their own devices, so she furnishes some other entertainment.

Yet if we were to develop our mental capacity as we do our body muscles, we would find games a poor substitute for the pleasure and stimulus to be got from good conversation.

If one were to cultivate a "sincere" curiosity—assumed interest has a counterfeit quality about it—about people and affairs, listening to everything interesting they have to say, and form the habit of reading newspapers, magazines and books and assimilating the contents, we would form the foundation for an interesting personality.

To be interesting one must be interested. G. K. Chesterton says, "there are no bores, only people who are bored." One should, I think, cultivate the habit of expressing one's thoughts verbally. It is important to be able to converse. Edwin Muir says, "In talking it over one can make anything pleasurable."

Sincerity of ideas, gives force to our utterances and makes for originality of expression, but most of us are afraid "to differ from the kindly race of men" and so we follow along the prescribed conversational lines like sheep and never develop the art of self-expression, which each of us possesses.

Aur Revour.

"Mad Marriage"

By LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
Author of "Heart Hungry" Etc.
(Copyright by NEA Service Inc.)

"It's nothing, Jim. I'll be all right."
He helped her from the car, his arm around her. For an instant she steadied herself against him, looking up into his face.

"It's nothing," she repeated in a weak voice. Immediately she fainted.

CHAPTER XLII

There was a light burning beside the bed. Gypsy became aware of it and was slightly annoyed. The light was a nuisance. All she wanted was to go to sleep again. The covers felt soft and warm. She could drift back into slumber if it were not for the light.
Sleep! What a blessing it would be to sleep forever!

She stirred and a twinge of pain shot through her body. The light remained there. She could reach out and turn it off but the exertion was unthinkable.
Gypsy lay quiet for several moments.
Vague thoughts began to trouble her.
There was something she could not remember quite clearly. Something that had happened.

The girl opened her eyes. Why had she imagined anything was wrong?
She was here in her own room. Everything was the same. Then she saw Matilda sitting in the shadow across the room.

"Matilda," she asked, "what time is it?"
The woman came to the bedside.
"Don't you worry about the time," she said. "Do you feel better, ma'am?"

"My shoulder hurts," the girl said.
"And my ankle. What's the matter, Matilda?"
"It was an accident. The doctor came and he said you were to lay still and try to rest. You'll feel better in the morning."

"Oh—I'm beginning to remember."
Gypsy lay silent for a time. An accident. She remembered that very clearly now. The crash in Frank Gibson's car. Yes, she remembered everything.

"You didn't tell me what time it was," she reminded the woman.
"It's nearly eight o'clock. Ten minutes until eight. Don't you think you might sleep some more?"

Gypsy closed her eyes but she did not sleep. She was fully awake now.
Presently she asked: "Where's Mr. Wallace? Did he have dinner on time?"
"It was ready but he waited until after the doctor came. He's been awfully worried about you, Mrs. Wallace."

"Is he here now?"
"Downstairs in the library."
"Will you ask him to come up, please?"

Matilda cast a troubled look at her mistress, then went quietly from the room. Gypsy looked about her. Except for the orange-shaded lamp at the side of the bed the room was in darkness.
She glanced down and saw that she was wearing one of her fragile, lace-trimmed nightgowns: it was a yellow one. She moved and felt the pain in her ankle once more.

There were footsteps in the hall. Jim

Manley knew what I think of spreading stories like this!"

"Don't, Jim. Abbie didn't mean any harm. I tell you she thought we were together. She still thinks so. Only you must have been there. She said you were facing her and the girl had on a blue dress."

Wallace paused. "Monday," he repeated musingly. "Let's see where did I have lunch on Monday?" He frowned, slightly. Suddenly a light seemed to dawn. "I know!" he exclaimed. "Of course. I was with Bill Breckenridge and we went to the Pine Grove Inn. Breckenridge always gets there. After he has ordered his wife came in and joined us. She must have had on a blue dress. I don't remember that. But it's odd Abbie couldn't have noticed there was another man at the table."

"The ankle's sprained. Doc says I owe're careful it will be all right in a week or ten days. Have to stay off your feet for a while. The other bruises will make you feel stiff for a few days but they're nothing to worry about."

"Sit down, Jim. Gypsy said. 'Bring the chair over where I can see you.'"

He drew a low rocking chair nearer to the bed and sat down. Gypsy eyed him seriously. "Do you know how it happened?" she asked.

"You were with Gibson," Jim answered promptly. He was not looking at her. "The man who brought you home—Mason—told me."

The girl nodded. "It was down town,
there. She could reach out and turn it off but the exertion was unthinkable.

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly and the Squirrels

By HOWARD R. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly knocked on the door of the Hollow Tree House where Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrel boys lived with their father and mother.
"Who is there?" asked the voice of Mrs. Bushytail.
"Uncle Wiggly," answered the rabbit himself. "How are Billie and Johnnie?"
"Oh, they can't come out to play with you, I am sorry to say," answered the mother squirrel. "My little boys are ill in bed."
"So I heard," went on Mr. Longears.
"That is why I came to see them."
"Oh, I am so glad," explained the lady squirrel. "It is such trouble to keep them amused. I've told them all the stories I know and they keep teasing for more. Besides you know some stories I haven't told them."

For some time Uncle Wiggly sat near the bed while Billie and Johnnie watched the swimming fish. They were so good and quiet that Uncle Wiggly fell asleep. But suddenly he awakened when he heard a noise and he opened his eyes just in time to see the squirrels each taking a fish out of the water.

"Oh! Oh! Mustn't do that!" cried the bunny.

"But we want to take the fish in bed with us," said Billie.

"No! No!" cried Uncle Wiggly. "Fish cannot live out of water. Leave them in the bowl." So Billie and Johnnie did, and they felt so happy watching the swimming chaps that soon the squirrels were all well.

If the canary bird will sing the alarm clock to sleep when it is trying to ring the bell for the front door, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggly and the queer egg.

Revival of the Dowry System to Encourage Marriage Would Also Promote Happiness, Says Dorothy Dix. For the Wife Who Has Her Own Income, However Small, Is Accorded Greater Respect by Her Husband

ONE OF our great financial minds—and he knows all there is to be learned about organizing trusts and promoting combinations—proposes a revival of the dowry system to encourage marriage.

Good for him. It is a plan that I myself have advocated for years and years. It is the foundation stone of marriage in many countries.

Personally I can think of nothing that would speed up the matrimonial market so much as giving girls dowries, because the reason that young people do not marry is not because they do not want to, but because they have not the price of a wedding ring. There are mighty few young men in their twenties, which is the age in which they are most inclined toward marriage, who make enough money alone and unaided to afford the luxury of a wife. Hence they have to put off marrying until they are well in their thirties, and by that time they have more or less outgrown the romantic urge and marriage doesn't look so good to them as does bachelorhood and freedom.

But if a girl had a dowry it would be far otherwise. If the bride brought along her own bread and butter, so to speak, and was able to buy her own stuffy ruffles, then boys and girls could afford to marry while they were still young and ardent. A wife then would be an asset to a man instead of a liability, and marriage would be a grand sweet song instead of a perpetual fight over bills, as it generally is when people indulge themselves in something beyond their means and later on regret the consequences. For, alas and alack, love's young dream has to be financed or else it turns into a nightmare.

Fathers who bring their daughters up with pink crepe-de-Chine habits and tastes should in common honesty and justice continue to supply the silk lingerie. Otherwise you work a great hardship on both the girl and her husband and jeopardizing their marriage, for many a man's marriage goes on the rocks because the young husband cannot supply the finery to which the girl has been accustomed, and she cannot adjust herself to a lower standard of living.

For a girl to be given a dowry when she marries would do much to promote her happiness. It would give her the self-respect that even partial financial independence gives, and it would make her husband respect her more. Husbands will deny it in chorus; but it is true, nevertheless, that few men ever treat a wife who has her own pocketbook in the same way that they treat one who hasn't a penny of her own. A rich man once said to me: "I have settled enough money on my daughters in a trust fund to insure their husbands' always treating them with politeness and consideration."

Even when husbands are generous it is wormwood and gall in a woman's mouth for her to have to go to her lord and master and ask him for every cent. Every time she has to do it she is humiliated and she feels that she would almost sell her soul for the smallest income that was her very own, and that came to her from her father instead of being doled out to her by her husband.

It is because this financial independence is so craved by women that business girls are so loath to give up their job after marriage.

Of course parents will say that they cannot afford to give their daughters dowries, and that after you have dressed a girl and sent her to college and given her a trip to Europe and a sports car, there is nothing left to bestow upon her when she marries. True enough; but I believe that if fathers and mothers spent less on their daughters' backs while they are growing up and put more in their hope chests it would be a far better investment in the long run and bring in a higher percentage in happiness and well-being to the girls.

In other countries when a girl baby is born her parents begin laying up her dowry so that she may not only be able to marry when she is grown, but have her safety assured after marriage.

In this country parents spend all they can rake and scrape together in doling up a girl on the gamble that she will be good enough looking to catch a husband who will provide for her. But they never think, unless they are rich, of safeguarding her future themselves. This seems to me a great mistake and that it would be far better for them to buy a few baby bonds for Mamie and Sadie than it is for them to provide them with a perambulator fit for a princess.

Of course, fathers and mothers say that they do not have to throw in any chromo with their daughters when it comes to marriage, but even the most beautiful living picture is the more cherished if it has a nice gold frame.

Speeding Around Africa

VIII—THE NATIVES VISIT OUR AIRPLANE

The dancing negroes and the drum-beaters keep on with their movements as we come near, but many of the watching natives turn toward us. Whites are interesting to the dark folk of Africa.

Two Kenyan Chiefs

Our plane was landed about a quarter of a mile from the village, and it seems that none of the natives saw us come down. When the dance is over, we tell them about our method of travel, and they ask us to take them to our airplane.

Some of the natives have seen airplanes at close range, but our trimotor is the largest they have ever observed. One bold fellow climbs into the cockpit and touches "the stick," but he does not start the motor. When we return to the village, the natives treat us to a great feast. The main part of the meal is broiled antelope flesh. These people use no forks, but we get along very well holding the meat in our hands. Of course it is a messy way to eat, but let us not be too particular in the wilds of Africa.

We sleep in one of their huts, and next morning fly northward. Below us is Tanganyika Territory, once a German colony, but now under the power of Great Britain.

Over to our right we see the lofty peaks of Kilimanjaro. It is the highest mountain in Africa, the top being almost four miles above sea level. We notice that the peak is covered with snow. This seems rather strange at a point so close to the equator; but later in the day, as we pass the very line of the equator, we see other snow-covered peaks. We feel cold, and put on our warmest coats. Even in the heart of Africa you may freeze if you are high enough above sea level.

We pass over the large and beautiful Lake Victoria. This lake is larger than Lake Huron.

Now we turn our course westward, and fly over another British colony—Kenya.

"How does it happen," you ask, "that foreign countries own so much of Africa?"

"That's a story of trade and conquest," I reply. "Africa has been 'carved up' by nations of Europe. There are only two or three free countries on the entire continent."

We land near a Kenya village and are received by two native chiefs.

To-morrow—Ethiopia.

I HAD AN AWFUL NIGHT. SLEPT HARDLY AT ALL.

WASN'T THAT EXPLOSION SIMPLY DEAFENING?
I WONDER WHERE IT WAS.

AND THEN THOSE FIRE ENGINES, SCREECHING HALF THE NIGHT.

YOU MEAN YOU DIDN'T HEAR EITHER THE EXPLOSION OR THE ENGINES?

STAND AND DELIVER, GENTS!

A TOUGH BARRIT, EH? MUTT, TOSS HIS CAP IN THE AIR.

NICE SHOOTING, JEFF!

Horoscope

THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1932

This is an uncertain day in planetary direction, according to astrology, but benefic aspects appear to dominate.

It should be a fairly lucky day for women and their cultural interests although in the world of industry they may be badly directed.

Under this way the theatre should benefit through the selection of good plays and the catering to intelligent audiences.

The stars foretell the rise of new dramatists and new novelists who will introduce a period of real literary achievement.

This should be a time of promise for actors and actresses. Motion pictures have the forecast of prosperous months after many changes in production policies.

Farmers and all who till the soil are under adverse planetary influences while this configuration prevails. Weather conditions may be unfavorable.

Persons of middle age or more are subject to a planetary direction making for retrospection. The very warm and bright cheerful thoughts should be cultivated.

Transition again is evident in the reading of Saturn many changes, foretells the rise of horoscopes, astrologers declare, and out of the world's distresses will rise great international achievements.

This evening should be most favorable for heads of families, professors in college and all who exercise authority. The stars seem to encourage respect for good counsel and wise admonition.

Conferences, especially those related to commercial enterprises, are subject to the most stimulating and helpful planetary government, it is foretold.

Much foreign travel is forecast for the coming summer, when tourists from school and colleges will outnumber previous records.

A London astrologer, who sees in the era of a new religion in which science is to meet theology.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the surgery of a year in which the influence of Jupiter will be manifested in an access of power and money.

Children born on this day may be proud and ambitious. Many subjects of this sign of Taurus reach great success.

George W. Childs, publisher and philanthropist, was born on this day, 1829. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Henry Cabot Lodge, 1850, statesman, and John Sheridan Knowles, 1784, noted English dramatist.

Agricultural activity in Germany is increasing.

R. M. BLUMFIELD DIES SUDDENLY

Well-known Ex-service Man and Actor Found Dead in Saanich

Believed to have suffered a severe internal hemorrhage, Richard McAndrew Blomfield, aged thirty-one, of 853 Burdett Avenue, died suddenly yesterday. The body was found in the cellar of Capt. C. Tennant's home at 1125 Rock Street, Saanich.

Mr. Blomfield had been in ill health of recent years. He had been employed during the last few weeks at Capt. Tennant's home and is thought to have collapsed some time yesterday morning. The body was found by Mrs. Tennant when she returned home in the afternoon.

An inquest will not be necessary, Coroner E. C. Hart announced. The late Mr. Blomfield had lived here for the last five years. He was born in England, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles James Blomfield of Great Horwood, Leicestershire. He was a grandson of the late Rt. Rev. Charles James Blomfield, Bishop of London, and a nephew of Sir Richard Blomfield, noted English architect.

He served with the Imperial Army during the war and joined the Army and Navy Veterans' Association here on arrival. He was also a member of the Victoria Public Schools Club, having been educated at Charterhouse School.

Mr. Blomfield was well known in amateur theatrical circles. For some time he was employed by The Daily Colonist as a reporter and later was connected with the Confederation Life Assurance Co. He was married to a Miss Clark, wife of the late Mr. McClure, and had two daughters, Mrs. Hon. Clayton and Miss Rachel Blomfield in England, and an uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Jack of Victoria, B.C.

He was survived by his wife, who will live here to-morrow to attend the funeral which will take place Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from Sands Lumber Co. mortuary, 1111, Broadway. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock from Sands Lumber Co. mortuary, 1111, Broadway. The funeral will be held at 2 o'clock from Sands Lumber Co. mortuary, 1111, Broadway.

At the Jubilee Hospital this morning, the death occurred of Mary Jane McClure, wife of the late Mr. McClure, Central Saanich Road. Keating, aged seventy-eight years. A native of York, England, Mrs. McClure had resided in the province for twenty years. She is survived by her husband and one son at home, and one stepson at Drumheller, Alberta. Funeral arrangements will be made later.

Associated Press.—The story of the navy dirigible Akron's triumphant fight against storms in reaching the Pacific Coast was told to-day in a message from her commander, C. E. Rosen-dahl, to the navy radio station here.

"After a rough and trying trip the Akron has reached the Pacific Coast in excellent condition in spite of the fact that, in my opinion, this ship under-vent the most severe conditions ever experienced successfully by a rigid air-ship," the message said. "All one night was spent completely surrounded by severe lightning and in running at speed to avoid being caught in violent thunderstorms that blocked our every available route to El Paso, Texas."

"After twice being prevented by zero visibility from getting over the moun-tains, we decided to try the route from Pecos via Vanhorn, but found a similar barrier there."

"On Tuesday afternoon, after fruit-lessly awaiting a clearing, there we de-cided to break through, flying blind. About the middle of Tuesday after-noon we successfully negotiated the tortuous seventy-five miles between Pecos and Vanhorn by tying solely on dead reckoning and ship's instruments."

"The course was laid to follow the curving railroad between peaks and finally at 6,800 feet the ship plunged through, out of blindness into broken and clearing sky, just short of Van-horn."

"This plunge through the fog was really full of drama. Just before reach-ing El Paso we encountered what was styled a moderate sand storm, but the resulting turbulence in the upper air column could not be so conservatively estimated."

"About two hours after fighting our way through the pass at El Paso, sud-denly out of a clear sky and entirely unannounced another terrific sand-storm tried to impede our progress, rocking, rolling and thrusting the ship up and down, but the Akron took it beautifully."

"The night was spent in snaking through tortuous passes in the moun-tains, but due largely to the splendid system of beacons instituted by the Department of Commerce, aerial navigation, even under such conditions, was readily accomplished without a mo-ment's loss."

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Ontario Sees Good Boxing as Canadians Prepare for Olympic Trials

Chances Good for Two Phillips Brothers Making Canadian Team

Athletes Start Economy, Saving Up for Longer Careers or Big Tests

Back in Ontario, where the boys who fight just for the love of a sock on the jaw, are mixing it up in preparation for the Olympic trials, and sensational bouts are being offered to the faithful.

Not the least outstanding among the "simon-pure" ranks are Tony "Cossy" Canzano and Teddy Phillips. They form sixty-six and two-thirds per cent of a smart trio of glove throwers who have given Toronto and other parts of the east many a thrill. The other is Jackie Phillips, Canadian "pro" writer champion.

For the last three or four years these boys have been drubbing one another in good-natured practice and are rated now among the best in Canada. Teddy is a light-heavy and "Cossy" a flyweight. They will
Leafs' selection for the battles in Los Angeles.

In the British Empire Games in Hamilton two years ago, these two amateurs put up exceptionally good scrap. In the ring they were fast and clean fighters. Out of the ring they were two of the cleverest repartee boys in the barracks. With the addition of a couple of years' experience, they can be expected to put up even better shows at their respective weights. If they make the team the comedy element of the Maple Leaf boys will be at a premium.

If Teddy qualifies there is every chance in the world that Mr. and Mrs.
Bert Phillips of the Queen City, will have two of their boys wearing the Dominion's colors. The other will be Alfie, British Empire sparring and tower diving champion, who will perform in Victoria during July in the Canadian Olympic swimming trials.
And if they make the grade brother Jack will also be on the spot in some specialty or other.

The athletic world is noticing a new economy move that has not been brought on by the depression.
It is the saving up of energy in some form or other by the "top-notchers," either for a longer career in their sports or for a supreme effort in the Olympic Games.

Rec Edmundson, Seattle coach of prominence, has announced his interdiction of keeping his crack men out of the inter-collegiate duels this year unless the latter are recognized as Olympic trials. He figures it is not worth while burning up his boys in this competition and leaving them worn out for the big test.

But all the same, Ben Eastman, present star of the United States cracks, does not seem to worry much about being burned up. He started his track career late and still has the punch some of the boys used up in high school. Perhaps that is one reason for his prodigality.

This year, it has been observed, Babe Ruth has not been following his ancient superstitious practice of touching second base as he comes in to the bench from the outfield. The guesses are that he thinks more of saving his legs than of the value of the superstition.

Speaking of saving the legs, Gene Venzel, who ran a mile in 4:10, will compete in only three track meets before the tryouts for the Olympic team.
Without burning him out.

Rabbit Maraville of the Braves, who is having his twenty-first year in the majors, did not think of saving anything, least of all his legs, until the year 1927. He got the idea when he woke up and found himself in Rochester. Since then he has saved enough of himself to be good for ten years more, to be conservative.

Most of the United States golfers, perhaps with a rainy day in mind, will refrain from competing in the summer. Mac Smith, Billy Burke and Tommy Armour expect to see up in the British open, but most of the transatlantic golf traffic will be coming westward. That ought to be a great help to home industries.

Gene Tunney unheeded an expensive word in an interview with the press the other day. The former champion classified Johnny Buckley's prompt action in preventing Jack Sharkey from leaping out of the ring in his battle with Primo Carnera as "fortuitous." Spending a word like that now and then should help to bring jack prosperity.

CUE EXPERTS MEET TO-NIGHT

It is expected some classy billiards will be seen to-night when Percy Fitzsimmons, city champion, and Sam Oakes, last year's titleholder, meet in a special exhibition in the Pro Patria clubrooms commencing at 7:30 o'clock.
Both men are in good form now and the match will probably be a close one.

To-night's encounter is the first half of a 1,000-point match, the second half being scheduled for Friday at the same place and hour. Harry Roeborn, chairman of the sports committee of the Pro Patria branch, invites members of the Interservice League and followers of the game to attend the exhibition.

Prusoff, Driscoll, Dranga and Casey Visit City In July

Outstanding Men Who Furnished Chief Features in Play Last Season To Take Part in British Columbia
Grass Court Championships in City Starting July 11; Tournament Dates for Pacific Northwest Announced

United States stars who furnished the main thrills in last year's play in the Pacific Northwest men's sectional singles and other tennis features held in the city, will be well represented here in this season's play, it was revealed in reports from Seattle to-day.
Henry Prusoff, Sound city marvel who captured the B.C. singles honors in 1931, will again play in the British Columbia grass court championships scheduled for Victoria from July 11 to 16.
Along with him will be Laurason Driscoll, San Francisco, who was also a finalist in the feature last year, according to reports.

PUT LIMIT ON HOCKEY WAGES

Set Figures For Team and Individual Salaries at N.H.L.
Annual Meeting

No Action Taken on Franchises of Ottawa or Pittsburgh; St. Louis Refused

New York, May 11.—The National Hockey League voted at its semi-annual meeting here yesterday evening to enforce hereafter a salary limit of $70,000 for each of the eight clubs in the league, and an individual salary limit of $10,000.

Much of the afternoon session was spent discussing means of reducing expenses, and it was decided to make the performers do their share. Some of the stars, President Frank Calder explained, have been drawing as high as $10,000 a season.

Next winter each club will be restricted to fourteen players each. The present rule allows a team to have sixteen in uniform and ready for play.
Some clubs, in fact, carry as high as twenty players, but they can only use sixteen in any given game.

NO ACTION ON FRANCHISES

No action was taken on franchises now held by the Ottawa Senators and Pittsburgh Pirates. Both clubs have until July 2 to decide whether they will be operated by a single owner and come back into the league or sell in time, it is felt, Cleveland will have a N.H.L. team that will be a year or two late.

No players were drafted from the minor leagues and no changes made in the rules.

Attendance in the National Hockey League fell off more than 100,000 during the last season, it was disclosed.
Total attendance in the eight cities of the circuit, exclusive of the playoffs, was 1,627,702, a decrease of 106,613 customers from the previous season, when there were ten teams.

An application by James Norris for a franchise to be operated by a single owner was rejected on the ground it was "geographically impossible."

With four out of five of its leading players winning their matches, Mrs.
R. B. Philbrick's secretary's team of golfers defeated the captain's side headed by Mrs. Walter Parry by a score of 7 to 5 at the Victoria Golf club yesterday afternoon. Two evenly matched sides met in the first encounter of a series. Mrs. Philbrick took the measure of Mrs. Parry in the battle of the strings.

Results, with the captain's side first mentioned, follow:
Mrs. Parry 0, Mrs. Philbrick 1.
Mrs. A. Watson 1, Miss Benson 0.
Mrs. Phil 0, Mrs. H. Rose 1.
Mrs. Hadley 0, Mrs. Scott 1.
Miss Nora Wilson 0, Miss Mary Campbell 1.

Mrs. King 1, Mrs. Squire 0.
Mrs. Hepburn 0, Mrs. Ruth Jones 1.
Mrs. Barber-Starkley 1, Mrs. Peachey 0.
Mrs. Pangman 1, Mrs. Goward 0.
Mrs. Benson 0, Mrs. Musgrave 1.
Mrs. Turnbull 0, Mrs. Fyfe 1.
Mrs. Mitchell 1, Mrs. Hyndman 0.

Bowling Season In Cumberland Opened

With Lieut.-Col. C. W. Villiers performing the opening ceremonies before the forty members in attendance, Cumberland Lawn Bowling Club opened its season Saturday. The chairman was A. J. Taylor, president of the club. Four finks were in play during the afternoon. Cumberland will be at home to the Powell River bowlers on May 22.

Italians Defeated In Davis Cup Play

Genoa, Italy, May 11.—The Egyptian doubles team of George and Pierre Gradulnikoff yesterday defeated the Italian pair of Emanuele Sertorio and A. Del Bono, 6-2, 6-3, 5-7, 6-4, to send their Davis Cup series into another day for decision. Italy won the first two singles matches yesterday.

Miracles of Sport

There is also a possibility that Ray Casey, San Francisco, giant left-hander, whose marvelous service and color have made him one of the most popular players on the Pacific Coast, may also come north this year. In 1925 and 1926 he swept the boards here.

It is expected tennis leaders here will also make an effort to have Dr.
Jack Wright, Canadian champion and
No. 1 ranking player on the Canadian Davis Cup team, enter the tournament.
He is now living in Vancouver and should not have much difficulty in getting across for the play.

These leading players of the Pacific Northwest as well as the Californians are expected to start the big season play with the Oregon state championships in Portland on June 27. Following a week there, they will proceed to Vancouver, where the western Canada championships will open on July 4.

In conjunction with the latter, the Pacific Northwest sectional singles, doubles and event on the P.N.W. card, will be played. On July 11 they will come to Victoria for the British Columbia grass court championships, highlight of the provincial season, and will return to Vancouver for the British Columbia hardcourt play on July 18.

During the week of July 25, the tennis circles of the Pacific Northwest will focus their interest on the Washington state play in Seattle.

The Pacific Northwest open will start at Tacoma on August 1.

Victoria and Vancouver players will first devote their attention to the Vancouver Island singles championships at Duncan starting August 10. The Island doubles play is scheduled for South Cowichan on July 25.

With this outstanding competition promoted from across the line as well as Vancouver, Victoria aces will have a great opportunity to meet some of the leading men in the game. Record local entries are expected in the British Columbia and Island events and a high standard of play is assured.

Burke's Swing Gets Left Side In

By her victory over Mrs. J. W. Fordham Johnson at the Royal Colwood Golf Club yesterday, Mrs. H. Paterson won the Spring Cup handicap competition. The margin of victory in the eighteen-hole encounter was 4 and 3.

The first final resulted in Mrs.
J. Richardson defeating Mrs. Gonnason by 3 and 2. Mrs. Pocock took the second flight from Mrs. R. W. McKenzie, 2 and 1, and Mrs. Rasmussen won the third flight final from Mrs. F. J. Hall by the same score.

Mrs. Sayward-Wilson was medalist earlier in the week.

SOFTBALL RESULTS

Results of yesterday evening's softball games follow:
Victoria and District League—N.U.
W.A. 18; Sidney 10; View Royals 10;
North Saanich 4.

Commercial League—Caledonians 20; Hudson's Bay 1.

HOW THEY STAND

A player who bends over too much in addressing the ball is likely, also, to spread his legs too far apart. The result is frequently disappointing. Freedom of movement in the hips, centre of the pivot, is curtailed. The left side will not turn easily. In fact, it is apt to be blocked that the left foot must be twisted in order to let that side come around.

Such a stance is largely the result of a psychology in which the uppermost desire is to "kill" the ball. As the right side is the stronger and more usable side of the body it almost automatically takes control. The right shoulder and side lead the downswing and the clubhead inevitably comes down on the line of flight, a course profile of slices.

Billy Burke's method of building up the left sides participation in the swing is worth emulating. Practice swinging a club from a regular stance with only the straight left arm and hand. Don't use the right arm at all.
This will habituate the left hand to its share in the swing and will strengthen it, and the wrist.

Be sure to make the swing a full one, carrying to the top backward and forward, and entailing the cocking of the wrist. Practice this a lot; then try hitting a ball. Also be sure not to take a wide stance.

Giant Bass Takes Fishers For Ride

Huge Fish Hooked Off San Pedro Falls Seventy-five-foot Motor Boat and Two Anglers for Three Hours Before Landed So the Story Says.

San Pedro, Cal., May 11.—A 350-pound bass towed a seventy-five-foot motorboat containing two men three miles to sea in a zig-zag, circling course and might have kept going had it not been for a light-house keeper and his tender.

Andrew and Antonio Tatro, brothers, hooked the big fish. Irving Konklin, lighthouse keeper, saw the swift, erratic dash of the boat as the fishermen hung stubbornly to the line.

Konklin sped his tender in pursuit, but three hours passed before he overtook the fishing craft.
He helped the brothers pull in the bass.

The stakes were $1,000 with extras.

Jimmy Fox got back into his hitting stride yesterday against the White Sox and rapped out a double and two angles in four times at bat to regain the batting leadership of the Big Six and of the major leagues. He gained seventeen points, going to 436 and passing the late Earl Reynolds.

Bill Dickey also registered a rise, gaining eight points with two hits in four times up. Chuck Klein came back into the Big Six, gaining eight points with two hits in four times up, while all the other National League leaders lost ground. He tied Pinkey Whitney and Bill Terry for second place in the National League.

Five Hundred Entered For High School Track Meet

Elimination Heats Start To-day; Will Narrow Down Field

Promising Youngsters Set New Record Entry for Annual Event To Be Held at Fernwood Road May 20; Dark Horses Expected To Come Through; Favorites Limit Number of Events in Which They Will Compete; Officials and Contestants Announced

When finals in the Victoria High School sports are run on May 20 the cream of approximately 500 athletes will perform. Up to that time a series of elimination heats, starting to-day, will be staged to determine just who will be in the feature events on the big day. The entry list, which closed yesterday evening, is the greatest ever made up in the history of the association. Included in it are the names of some of the city's leading athletes, among them being Art Chapman, Joe Addison and a dozen promising intermediates and juniors.

Judging from the field, outsiders will have a great chance to come through in the meet, since the stars have limited their entries to a few events.

As it stands, both Addison and Chapman are considered sure bets to take their respective specialties, but dark horses may have a chance to amass sufficient points to gain the aggregate championships.

In both boys' and girls' divisions the list is exceptionally heavy.

OFFICIALS

Following are the officials in charge of the events: General committee, Ira Dilworth, George Jay, Dr. D. Donald and Miss A. Macleod, starter, Harry Le Smith; time-keepers, W. H. Hughes, Archie McKinnon and L. Campbell; recorders, J. Welch, J. McKim, Earl Clark; announcer, Claude Campbell; judges for boys' track events, K. Ferguson, V. Emery, G. Deane, W. Webber, H. Cumberbatch and D. Wallis; judges for girls' track events, W. George, J. Beckwith, J. Brand, Miss L. Archibald, Miss N. Eaton and Miss B. Alward; boys' field event judges, J. Adams, J. M. Campbell, Col. T. B. Monk, E. W. Cook, R. Heywood, L. Hardie and T. Steward; judges for girls' field events, Miss F. McLeod, Margaret Swanson, V. Turner, L. Kennedy, J. Armstrong and H. O. English; clerks of course, W. A. Roper and Miss Mona Miller.

TOILERS LOSE TO OLD RIVALS

Leg-weary Winnipeg Men's Canadian Hoop Champions Beaten By Alumni

Canadian Press Windsor, Ont., May 11.—Winnipeg Toilers, recently crowned Canadian senior basketball champions, went down to defeat here yesterday evening before a crowd of 1,200 fans. Alumni, finalists this year for eastern honors, who had been noosed out of titular honors by Toilers in the final series of 1927, gained a well-deserved 30 to 27 victory over the Manitobans in a thrilling exhibition tilt.

Alumni came from behind in the second half with a powerful offensive after trailing 19 to 16 at half time, and wrote a bit of a record into the basketball books by holding the champions without a field goal in the second chapter. Toilers scored five singletons on free throws in the second half for their only points, while Alumni harvested five field goals and four free tosses for points.

The visitors were leg weary from long train rides and strenuous playing, yesterday evening's game being the third in four nights.

PEG BOY SEEKS BOXING TITLE

Frankie Battaglia, Canadian Middleweight, Rated Equal to Gorilla Jones

Canadian Press Winnipeg, May 11.—One of the greatest fighters Winnipeg has produced, Frankie Battaglia, is headed for the world's middleweight championship. The dark-haired, two-listed youngster, who went to St. Paul, Minn., a couple of years ago because he had beaten every man his weight at home, has emerged within the last few months as the outstanding contender for Gorilla Jones's title.

Battaglia, a member of Canada's 1928 Olympic boxing squad, has won twenty-three out of his last twenty-six fights by knockouts. Recently he knocked out Ben Jey, of New York, ranked No. 4 among the world's middleweights by the National Boxing Association, in one round.

George Barton, sports editor of The Minneapolis Tribune, a well-known boxing referee in the mid-west, writes this of Battaglia:

Battaglia is a natural fighter. He does things instinctively, seldom makes any false moves and possesses the killer instinct in the ultimate. The Winnipeg youngster has all the physical and mental requisites of a real fighter. To begin with he is gifted with a splendid physique, his powerful and beautifully muscled body and arms being set off with a pair of sturdy legs that are built for speed as well as endurance. He has a wide spread of shoulders, assets that every fighter needs to be successful in a game as strenuous as prize-fighting.

Battaglia packs a powerful punch in either flat, picks his openings smartly and shoots his blows with every ounce of his weight and strength back of them.

"Twenty-two years old, intelligent, ambitious, determined and a careful living fellow, Battaglia seems headed toward the championship. Certainly he stands out head and shoulders above all contenders, and I believe that right now the Italian-Canadian is an even bet to whip the champion, Gorilla Jones, in a fifteen-round encounter."

Old Country Cricket

Canadian Press London, May 11.—Rain prevented play in four of the seven first-class cricket matches scheduled to start to-day. Tea-time scores in the other matches were: Worcestershire 111, for three wickets against Kent. Lancashire 173 for five wickets against Glamorgan. Pick of Canadian Amateurs Start Campaign For Olympic Team To-morrow

Toronto, May 11.—The pick of Canada's amateur fighters will be seen in action at Maple Leaf Gardens to-morrow and Friday nights, when the Canadian Amateur Boxing Championships and Olympic Trials get under way.

More than half of the 100 entrants have already arrived in Toronto, and a great number more were expected to-day. Joe Draper, hard hitting Saskatchewan welterweight; Arnie Johnson, Winnipeg feather, and Emmanuel Battaglia, bantam from the same city, arrived yesterday and went through impressive workouts at a local gymnasium.

French Play Shows Noah's Ark

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London.—What was life like in Noah's Ark?

Well, one view, that of the French playwright M. Andre Obey, has been shown to Londoners by the Compagnie des Quinze, who has just revived his quaint and delightful play "No" with charming simplicity they show Noah building the Ark and embarking the animals and his family. After forty days the voyage seems long. The humans grow discontented despite Noah's good-humored attempts to put heart into them. Rival groups are formed. Discord becomes so strong that at last even Noah is discouraged. He confides his troubles to the animals and with them addresses one last appeal to God. Then at last comes the longed-for wind, which will make the waters abate.

The story is told in a perfectly matter-of-fact way—as though miracles were the most natural thing in the world. And, like the English religious plays of the Middle Ages, a broad humor and "humanity" pervades the whole production.

ENGLISHMAN HAS QUEEREST HOBBY

Sometimes It Gets Him Into Trouble When Strangers Seek to Borrow Money

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London.—The man with the queerest hobby in Britain must surely be George Payne of Westcliffe. His hobby is speaking to strangers. He speaks to three every day, and has done so for the last twenty years.

"The world is full of interesting people," he recently explained, "but the average Englishman is so reserved that he never meets them. But I was educated in France—and that swept away my shyness. Now I talk to people in trains, parks, cafes, and all sorts of places."

In Westcliffe alone Mr. Payne has chatted to more than 2,000 people. He has talked to soldiers, sailors, clergymen—and crooks. But he says that in London and other big cities he has to be careful. Sometimes people with whom he strikes up an acquaintance end by trying to borrow money!

OCCUPATIONAL CHANGES FEW

Wrigley Directory to Show
Victoria Had Better Year Than Vancouver

Incomplete Canvass Shows Stability of Residence, Says Directory Head

Residents of Greater Victoria have enjoyed stability of employment to a far greater extent than has been generally experienced in Vancouver and the other large cities of the Northwest Pacific Coast, Roy Wrigley, president of Wrigley Directories Limited, stated this morning.

"Compilation of the new directory has progressed sufficiently to show that Victoria last year enjoyed much better conditions than were experienced by the people of Vancouver," Mr. Wrigley said. "Not only have changes of occupation been fewer here, there have also been a much smaller number of address changes in Greater Victoria than in the Terminal City."

The stability of occupation was ascribed in part to the steady payrolls provided by the provincial and Dominion governments, but more services required by a substantial percentage of retired wealthy persons was also a factor of importance.

In Victoria there was a far larger percentage of home-owners than in Vancouver, which was reflected in the smaller number of changes of address experienced here.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Unemployment problems facing this city were trifling compared with the situation facing Vancouver, in Mr. Wrigley's opinion. "Vancouver is taking an awful licking, she is taking it for the province as a whole and is entitled to sympathetic assistance," he remarked.

"The smaller communities of British Columbia are little affected by the slowing down of industry. They have to put the blame on the fact that they show serious changes in occupation of people or removal of families to cheaper residences," Mr. Wrigley stated.

TIME TO EXPAND

Mr. Wrigley considered that expansion of business facilities could not be undertaken at a better time than the present, because of the low cost of materials and labor. In this connection his firm had supported a recent practice, having recently set up a very large printing establishment in Vancouver for production of the directory. "That plant was acquired as a result of the survey we made last year. This large printing establishment in Vancouver confirms our judgment that expansion of business facilities at this time will be productive of large returns in a very few years," said Mr. Wrigley.

Declaring himself an advocate of the old job as a potent factor in assisting solution of unemployment, Mr. Wrigley said that the directory for 1932 to find employment for returned soldiers, but it is even more important to-day, for firms with capital reserves, to make work for more men by preparing for the better times shortly to return. It is better to provide money for capital betterment than for breadlines. Business must supply one or the other.

RINGERS VISIT GIANT CARILLON

Rockefeller Chimes of 72 Bells For University of Chicago Weigh 187 Tons

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London.—Some 3,000 bellringers who had assembled for the All-England Ringers' Meeting paid a visit to the foundry of Gillet and Johnson at Croydon to see the great carillon of seventy-two bells which are to form the memorial of John D. Rockefeller Jr. to his mother.

There were eighty-seven women among the bell-ringers, and they were accompanied by 100 clergymen and ninety churchwardens. "How healthy you all look!" was the jovial remark with which the Bishop of Norwich greeted the party. And two of their number, at least, seemed to provide evidence that bell-ringing is conducive to long life. Mr. Joseph Waghorn of New Southgate will be ninety in two months' time, and James George, who is seventy-eight, still rings a twenty-six hundredweight tenor bell.

The bells, which are being given to the chapel of the University of Chicago by Mr. Rockefeller, weigh ninety tons. There are seventy-two of them, and they range in weight from one of only twelve pounds to the vast seventeen-ton bourdon, which is the second largest tuned bell in existence. An iron structure has been built to carry the bells when they reach Chicago, for the stone tower of the chapel is not strong enough to bear the weight, which, with "No, I'm not crazy! You're spending my money to buy shirts for another man. And I can describe him exactly. He's four feet six inches high—got arms a foot long—and a neck the size of my wrist . . . What am I driving at? Look at this shirt! It's been laundered only twice and it's shrunk like a wool sock. I tell you, woman, you're either in love with a midget—or you need some expert advice on how to buy shirts."

Shirts that shrink are a waste of money. You need never buy such shirts again. For every Arrow Shirt is shrunk by Arrow's own Sanforizing Process—the only process of its kind—a process that guarantees permanent fit no matter how often the shirt is laundered. Carefully tailored shoulders—correct arm lengths that show the proper half-inch of cuff below the coat sleeves—and a collar that makes other manufacturers turn green with envy.

For the secrets Arrow has learned in making four billion collars give Arrow Shirts the best-fitting, best-looking collar that ever graced a neck. And the collar is the part that makes or mars a shirt's style. Only Arrow Shirts have Arrow Collars. And remember, if it hasn't an Arrow Sanforized-Shrunk label it isn't an Arrow Sanforized Shirt. SOCIETY LEADER ESCAPES FROM ARCTIC EXILE

Snowed in for four months in a remote Alaskan wilderness, Mrs. Edward M. Biddle, Philadelphia social registerite, "mashed" from Kantishna to Nenana with Mike Conroy, famous Alaskan dog "musher," to meet a plane which took her back to civilization. Mrs. Biddle is shown above after the arrival with the dog team. Conroy is back of the sled. The wife of the prominent Philadelphia attorney went north at the beginning of the year to gather material for a book. On January 12 she stopped at the home of Fannie Quigley, pioneer woman of the Kantishna region, expecting to stay a few days. Heavy storms, however, prevented her leaving by dog team and she had to wait for rescue.

The carillon will be equipped with full automatic playing mechanism, so that the bell music can be given daily, apart from recitals by carillonists. Five of the heavy bells, including the bourdon, are arranged for swinging, the power being provided by electric motors, started by a push-button. A chamber below the bells will contain the mechanism of one of the largest clocks in the world. The hours will be struck on the bourdon and the quarters chimed on four ovals of bells by means of a drum five feet in diameter drilled with 36,000 holes for the movable electrical contacts, which can be changed to vary the music chimed at the quarter hours.

A peal of eight bells for St. Giles's Church, Norwich, was also on view. Five of these bells date back to pre-Reformation days, and they are to be hung on a frame of Burmese teak, which, in the diocese of Norwich, is preferred to the modern steel frames.

All-electric Farm Now British Hope

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London.—A call for the extensive enlistment of electricity to assist in bringing about a revival of agriculture was made by R. Borlase Matthews at the annual meeting of the Rural Reconstruction Society.

Mr. Matthews pointed out that there were enormous possibilities in this direction, since only about 4,000 out of a total of about 418,000 farms in this country were using electricity. This was due, in the main, to the fact that supplies were not yet available in the majority of rural areas. He hoped, however, that with the development of the Central Electricity Board scheme rapid progress would be made.

He appealed to all landowners and others associated and interested in the countryside not to put up unnecessary obstacles to the erection of overhead lines, and went on to state that in the majority of cases a supply could not be given to a scattered community at a reasonable price unless it was done by means of overhead lines, the cost of underground cables in such cases being prohibitive.

A practical system of farming could not, Mr. Matthews considered, ever be successful in this country, for low labor cost and low productivity per acre were features of such a system. What Great Britain needed was not less but more intensive cultivation, for this country possessed the markets, the labor and the ability, while the area of land available was limited.

Extensive use would have to be made of electricity. It might also be necessary to reconsider many of the present-day accepted methods of working. He suggested that a detailed investigation should be made into what he referred to as "farm units."

By this he meant a study of the maximum amount of work that could reasonably be accomplished by one man and a boy working as whole time specialists in any particular branch of farming for example, the number of cows, poultry, or pigs, that such a "farm-unit" could take the entire charge of during their whole time.

Such specialization would undoubtedly bring the farm more into line with a factory and thus increase the output per head of labor employed and generally improve the standard of efficiency of the farm. The farm of the future would have to be much more scientifically organized than it was at present.

This happened in court at Tottenham. A constable giving evidence against an Edmonton man, charged with drunkenness, related:

"I saw him with one arm around a lamppost and with his other hand he was knocking on the standard, shouting, 'Open the door and let me in.'"

"I told him there was nobody living there, and he said: 'You are a liar. There is a light upstairs.'"
